Tidy-up at burial site to go ahead

THOUSANDS of pounds could be spent on tidying up an overgrown graveyard.

Mourners have resorted to cutting back the grass themselves at St John's Church in Heath Hayes.

Families complained to Cannock Chase District Council and its cabinet is today (Thursday) set to agree to formally adopt the graveyard from the Parochial Church Council.

They are proposing to fast-track the transfer of the graveyard so a £10,000 clean-up operation can begin. Efforts had been made to transfer the graveyard to the council several years ago but the process has been held-up.

In a report, head of commissioning Mike Edmonds, says: "The council's involvement in the maintenance of closed churchyards is a statutory requirement.

"A rough estimate of the cost of works required to bring the churchyard up to an acceptable standard is £10,000.

"An ongoing budget of £3,500 will also be required to undertake an annual maintenance regime."

Heath Hayes and Wimblebury Parish Council is hoping to take on responsibility for the maintenance of the churchyard, which is closed to new burials.

Charge of GBH denied

A CANNOCK man has appeared in court accused of causing grievous bodily harm.

The charge against Jonathan Kidd comes after Mark Jones was injured at The Green, near South Staffordshire College's Cannock campus, on March 16 this year.

Kidd, aged 47, of Birch Avenue, denied the charge when he appeared at Stafford Crown Court this week. The case was adjourned for trial on Tuesday, September 9.

HOT TUB CHEAT TO PAY BACK £10

Carnivals hailed as a big success

ORGANISERS have hailed two week-end carnivals as huge successes. Thousands of people lined the streets for the parades in Cannock and Brereton.

Both events drew huge crowds of one of the hottest days of the year last Saturday (July 12).

A procession of floats with a wartime theme to mark the 100 years since the outbreak of the First World War was led through Cannock on Saturday.

The best float prize was won by Bridgtown Primary School for the Spitfire-inspired design.

Headteacher Joanne Raybould said: "There were plenty of families and friends watching along the way and it is lovely to keep this tradition going in the town.

"We chose the Spitfire because of the First World War 100th anniversary, and it is important the children realise the sacrifices that were made in the past."

A day at the movies was the theme for Brereton's carnival, which attracted more than 6,000 people.

The event was revived last year after a 26-year absence by Brereton & Ravenhill Association for Community Events (Brace).

Secretary Ruth Templeton said: "It was really successful. We had really positive feedback and it was a great community day. People lined the streets and the entrants made a great effort."

The procession of floats and bands setting off from Hawkins Logistics Yard in Redbrook Lane and ended up at Ravenhill Park where there were attractions including beer tents, fairground rides, live music from the Rock Dogs, stilt walkers and group displays.

An appeal to resurrect the carnival, which ran from 1977 until 1986, was launched in July 2012.

Report by Adam Burling

THE main player in a fraudulent home hot tub firm which went under with debts of £2.7 million has been ordered to pay back just £10.

Simon Foster, who lived a 'millionaire's lifestyle' and owned three Porsches, was found guilty of cheating hundreds of customers with faulty goods or hot tubs that never arrived.

A jury at Stafford crown court found Foster and two other bosses of Spaserve, which operated from Towers Business Park, Rugeley, guilty of fraudulent trading. They were last month jailed for a combined eight years.

Principal partner Foster, now living in Lichfield, appeared back before the court for an uncontested Proceeds of Crime hearing.

Mr Nick Burn, prosecuting, said it had been agreed that Foster's personal benefit was £800,000.

Bankrupt

However it was decided that Foster should pay back £10 immediately with the court hearing that he had already been declared bankrupt and the official receiver has first claim on his assets.

The jury heard Foster had three Porsches on the drive of his luxury home at The Green in Milford, took expensive holidays, sent his children to private school and had a box at Birmingham City football club.

For three years Spaserve raked in advance payments from people who were sold faulty hot tubs or ordered products that never arrived.

The court heard 2,000 orders worth between £6m-£8m were taken from April 2007 to October 2010. Only in the region of 1,600 were delivered. Those that were were sub-standard, while customers were duped by the country of manufacture.

Sales manager and co-owner Stuart Cox, 40, of Oak Way, Sutton Coldfield, took in the region of £200,000 plus £100,000 in expenses from the business.

General manager Jonathan Huselbee, 37, of High Street, Dotshill, near Tamworth was paid a £35,000 annual salary plus benefits.

Foster, aged 49, was jailed for three and a half years; Cox for 30 months and Huselbee for two years.

Recorder Ms Abigail Nixon ruled Foster had benefited by £800,000 and gave him seven days to pay £10 or face a further week in jail.

Overhaul on roads to allow for shops

A ROUNDABOUT will be made bigger and extra lanes added to a major road as part of plans for Cannock's Mill Green development - the biggest designer outlet village in the Midlands.

The ambitious proposals will see new lanes and slip roads added to Eastern Way as well as the layout of the roundabout near the Biffa waste site overhauled.

And council bosses have revealed highway improvements are likely to be needed all the way to Churchbridge to cope with millions of anticipated visitors.

Initial designs include a filter access lane from Eastern Way into the 307,000sq ft site and an exit back onto the road via an underpass.

There will also be another entrance off a smaller roundabout that joins Hayes Way near Hawks Green.

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "This is terrific scheme that will bring jobs and prosperity to the area.

"For this to take place there will need to be a significant investment in the roads. This will probably have to go all the way down to Churchbridge where there are the links to the M6 and the M6 Toll."

A two-day public exhibition took place last weekend.

Shake-up idea for GP surgeries

SEVEN GP practices in Cannock Chase could merge with neighbouring surgeries to prevent a health-care crisis.

The 27 practices would be reduced to 20 and share more services but health chiefs on the Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) say it does not mean surgeries will close.

CCG bosses say most of the practices are small and unable to cope with increased demand or a move to being open seven days a week.

It means some practices may move to share premises while others may stay open as branches.

It was revealed last week that 60 per cent of GPs in Cannock Chase are over 50 years-old and set to retire with no obvious replacements.

The situation has been described as a 'crisis' and a time bomb' by CCG chairman Dr Johnny McMahon. He wants to see the different surgeries work closer together and set up a shared computer system.

Health bosses admit they cannot force doctors to merge their practices but say the move is necessary to improve healthcare in the area.

The report adds: "No one can or would want to force merges. However, mergers, or federated arrangements will improve the mutual support to practitioners that the strategy requires."

Chiefs also want to double the number of training practices from four to eight by 2016. A report called Distressed Economy by KPMG has highlighted Cannock Chase as being the worst served area for GPs in Staffordshire and the county as a whole is below the national average.

Health chiefs make plans as beds to go

HEALTH bosses are drawing up contingency plans after it emerged 60 beds will be lost at Stafford Hospital.

More patients are expected to be sent to Wolverhampton New Cross and Walsall Manor Hospitals as a result of the bed closures.

Stafford will lose 60 of its 200 beds, believed to be caused by staffing problems. Beds used as additional winter capacity will be the first to close.

MP makes the call for law change

AN MP has launched a bid for health regulators to be given greater powers to inspect hospitals in the wake of the Stafford Hospital scandal.

It is among a list of proposed changes to the law put forward by Stafford MP Jeremy Lefroy as he attempts to get a private members bill passed in Parliament.

He also wants a single ID number to be used for patients across health and social care to stop them getting lost in the system.

The MP also wants it to be made easier for staff who have committed serious crimes such as sexual offences to be struck off.

Mr Lefroy says the bill has already attracted support from both coalition and opposition MPs. It will now go to a second reading in November when a vote will be held in the Commons.

He said: "These are important issues and I think it has got a good chance of getting there. The things I am trying to do are what people want to see happen."

He said full details of the proposals would now be drawn up.

The ideas came from the appalling care that was uncovered at Stafford Hospital during the Francis Inquiry.

New Cross chief executive David Loughton said: "We are currently working on a contingency plan because we believe Stafford Hospital will have to reduce its beds because of staffing problems."

"We will work with the ambulance service, UHNS, Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust and Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust to work out how to reduce the activity there."

Bosses at Walsall Healthcare NHS Trust also confirmed they were in ongoing talks. A spokesman said: "We are part of ongoing discussions, working closely with colleagues from across the region on the potential impact of any changes made by Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust and will do all we can to respond."

Protocol

Closure of the beds will also lead to ambulances being redirected to Walsall and Wolverhampton during the day.

West Midlands Ambulance chiefs have already been working to reduce the number of patients taken to Stafford.

Spokesman Claire Brown said: "Working to a similar protocol as is used during the overnight closure, some patients will now be taken to neighbouring hospitals, where they would previously have been taken to Stafford."

"Additional funding has been agreed so more ambulances are available."

Two are hurt in collision

The scene of the collision in Watling Street in Bridgtown

A MAN and a woman were taken to hospital with injuries after a collision between a car and a motorcycle.

Watling Street, Bridgtown was closed off for just over an hour after the collision outside OK Diner around 5pm last Thursday.

Both casualties were taken to New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton.

The woman, who had been travelling in a black Citroen, suffered minor injuries while the male motorcyclist had suspected broken bones. The road reopened around 6.40pm.

Woman is hurt as handbag snatched

A PENSIONER was knocked to the ground by a robber who stole her handbag.

The 76-year-old woman who had been shopping at Tesco, Heath Hayes, was pushing a shopping trolley across the pedestrian area to catch her bus when she was attacked at around 5pm on Friday, July 4.

As she was passing the community centre in Hayes Way, a man on a bike grabbed the handbag she was holding.

Police say he pulled at the bag with such force that the woman lost hold of it and fell backwards, hitting her head on the ground. He then cycled off with the bag in the direction of the roundabout close to the petrol station.

The suspect is described as white aged 19 to 20, 5ft 7 to 5ft 8ins tall, of thin build with a scruffy dirty appearance and a shallow complexion. He had short dark hair and was wearing a dark coloured top and dark black/grey stonewashed jeans.

The contents of the stolen handbag included the woman's late husband's watch, which is of great sentimental value.

Call DC Sally Dean on 01785 234205 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Lions in food bank donation

THE Cannock Lions Club has donated more than 100kg of food to the Cannock & District food bank.

Members of the club went door-to-door in Heath Hayes collecting donations of food and bought other items.

The food bank distributes to Cannock, Stafford, Lichfield and Burntwood.

This is the second time club members have donated food this year and they hope to do another later in the year.

The food bank is looking for drivers to distribute food to collection points as well as food donations.

Lick of paint at rugby club

VOLUNTEERS brushed up on their skills at Burntwood Rugby Club. They joined in with the NatWest Rugby Force weekend.

The club was one of only five from Staffordshire to submit projects for funding, and, after an early start to view the final Test between New Zealand and England, they set about painting the old changing rooms.

A mix of senior and junior players and their parents, committee men, Staffs RDO Simon Hincks and RFU club management and governance officer Alex Thompson helped to complete the task.

Band at double

LOCAL folk/punk band The Bad Rats perform twice on Saturday. At 3pm they play at The Party in the car park at The Wheatsheaf in Great Wyrley and from 9pm they are at Woody's Bar, Uxbridge Street, Hednesford, supported by Amongst The People. Admission is free.

Fresh air fundraisers set 24-hour task

FRESH air gym-goers will raise money for charity in a 24-hour challenge.

Cannock's Fresh Air Gym Boot Camp will endeavour to complete as many 30-minute circuit sessions as they can in aid of St Giles Hospice.

Sentence for hit-and-run driver 'a joke' says son

A SON has hit out the sentence handed out to a hit-and-run driver who mowed down his mother as she went to buy a newspaper.

Richard Thompson was given six months in jail for killing Brenda Davies, of Rugeley. The victim's son Ian Mancor slammed the sentence as 'a joke'.

He also told of the effect on his own life that losing his 79-year-old mother had had, a bereavement exacerbated by a drawn-out court case.

Mrs Davies was mown down on December 3, 2012, as she crossed Western Springs Road in Rugeley at a lights controlled junction at 7.30am. Thompson, a school caretaker, fled from the scene in his BMW.

Mrs Davies suffered catastrophic injuries, including a fractured skull, smashed ribs and had to have a leg amputated. She died in hospital at Cannock almost two months later.

Tightened

Mr Mancor, who was at Stafford Crown Court last Friday for the sentencing, is writing to his MP Jeremy Lefroy in a bid to get the sentencing rules in cases of causing death by careless driving tightened up.

The 59-year-old retired social worker, of Greensome Crescent, Stafford, described Thompson's sentence and two-year driving ban as 'a joke'.

He said: "I was appalled. I was expecting a much longer sentence. The man drove off and then lied about what he'd done. After being charged, he withdrew his original guilty plea to the most serious charge to not guilty, with the result that the court case dragged on for another year."

By Marion Brennan

Mr Mancor, who worked in Wolverhampton, said the strain took its toll on his own health, having four months off through stress and then, after again going off on long-term leave, finally taking voluntary redundancy.

Before the trial was due to be heard Thompson, aged 32, of Shaftesbury Road, Rugeley changed his plea again and admitted causing death by careless driving. He also pleaded guilty to failing to stop and failing to report an accident.

Mr Mancor, an only son, said his twice-widowed mother had been a bright and active woman.

She was a member of Gymphobias in Rugeley and walked a mile and a quarter every day.

Road revamp set to start

A £2.6 million revamp of the busy Churchbridge interchange will start on Monday (July 21). The junction connects the A5, Cannock Eastern Bypass and the A34 and the work has been hailed as a huge boost for the area.

It involves a series of lane re-alignments on the approaches to the roundabouts and is due to be completed by January next year. South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson said the work was 'desperately needed'.

Austin Morgan and Amy Roberts, both aged five, with Laura Wright from Age UK, front and volunteers Iris Jones, Pat Crabtree and Steph Gardens at Five Ways

Booking in for a special delivery

VOLUNTEERS made a special delivery to a Cannock school - box sets of books by their favourite authors.

Books were dropped off at Five Ways Primary, in Langholm Drive, Heath Hayes as part of a project supported by Age UK South Staffordshire.

The school is involved in the Big Lottery-funded Children Matter project and were offered the books on a permanent loan basis to help support their library and encourage reading.

Children Matter recruits volunteers over the age of 50 to help out in local primary schools and nurseries, to listen to children read and as a general classroom help.

"We understand the importance of developing a love of reading from an early age," said Nigel Barrett, Community Services Manager for Age UK South Staffordshire.

"Our staff and volunteers remarked that we could enhance existing stocks and provide more opportunities by providing long term loan of some popular titles."

Laura Wright, one of the project organisers, met with Age UK South Staffordshire volunteer Pat Crabtree to deliver the books to Five Ways.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

A COURT in Amsterdam has ordered the city to reconsider the yuletide appearance of "Black Pete," Santa Claus's traditional helper, after complaints that he is a negative racial stereotype. How long before Santa himself is banned on the grounds that he looks like Rolf Harris?

A STUDY reveals that children are now more likely to be bullied online than in the playground. I dare say someone, somewhere has filed this result under "progress."

WE are in North Yorkshire this week and stopped at York on the way up. It is still bedecked in Tour de France flags and bunting, plus hundreds of bikes, all painted yellow and stuck to hedges, railings and shop fronts. Painting them must ruin them and it's strange that the most visible way of celebrating the greatest cycle race in the world is by demonstrating how many unwanted, forsaken and abandoned bikes we possess. Apres le spray-paint, le tip.

I HAVE to report that Yorkshire is depressingly full of stick-thin middle-aged cycle-blokes in clingy, revealing Lycra. Stuck behind a posse of them in your car, it is impossible not to see things you'd rather not see, many of them with large veins.

AFTER the man-made majesty of York Minster, meet Mother Nature's equivalent. The eight-mile hike from Helmsley to Rievaulx Abbey and back takes you through a dense, Hobbyit sort of forest. The floor is carpeted with wild garlic and the music is provided by cooling gangs of wood pigeons pulling out all the stops. Cool, shady, perfumed and echoing. A cathedral of conifers is a place to treasure.

CHANCELLOR George Osborne was trapped by a kid on a school visit who asked him: "What's seven times eight?" Quick as a flash, Osborne replied: "I've made it a rule in life not to answer a load of maths questions." Quick thinking, eh? Firstly, the Chancellor ducks the risk of getting the answer wrong. Secondly, he avoids slipping into the habits of the City where, if the client asks: "What's seven times eight?" the customary answer is: "Well, what figure did you have in mind, old boy?"

WHAT a curious business is this gay "discrimination" case in Ulster where a Christian-owned cake shop is in trouble. The owner refused to make a cake for a gay wedding with two gay iced characters and the slogan: "Support gay marriage." But this is not one of those cases where a trader treats customers unfairly by, for example, refusing a gay couple a hotel room. In this case, the cake-maker would probably have refused to make the cake whether the customer was straight or gay. So where's the discrimination? It seems the cake maker's real offence is that he is not sufficiently enthusiastic about homosexuality.

CAR-sales cobbler. Over the years, the used-banger business has given us a rich vein of ducking, dodging and diving but the growing curse of the "administrative fee" takes the biscuit. This is an arbitrary sum, often about £75, slapped on the price of your car to cover items such as a check on its hire-purchase status. I was amused online to find one dealer explaining earnestly that he couldn't waive this fee for a customer because, if an earlier customer found out, "they (the dealer) can be made to repay anyone who has paid the fee before." Absolute cobbler but isn't it strangely reassuring to know the spirit of Arthur Daley is alive and well? Nice little runner, squire . . .

INTERESTING, too, to see that 25 years after the last genuine series of Minder was aired, you can still buy Arthur Daley stickers ("les autos par excellence") for your car.

Games area rolled out for summer

YOUNGSTERS can enjoy fun and games at a popular portable sporting arena this summer.

The StreetStadia is aimed at eight-17-year-olds and transforms open space into a multi-games arena, suitable for playing football, handball, cricket, dodgeball and netball.

The free scheme is part of a series of events run by the Fire & Rescue

Service to tackle anti-social behaviour.

Sarah Smith, Prevent Watch Manager for the west of the county, said: "StreetStadia has proved to be very popular in recent years with hundreds of young people taking part.

"The activities are a great way to let off steam, make new friends and keep the boredom at bay over the six weeks. StreetStadia has also had a positive impact on reducing anti-social behaviour, such as small grass and bin fires, which traditionally see an increase during the summer holiday."

StreetStadia will be stationed at Littleton Green School in Huntington from 3pm-6pm on July 16 and 30 and August 6, 13, 20 and 27. Visitors to Cannock Park can make use of StreetStadia on July 31 and August 7, 14, 21 and 28 from 3-6pm.

The attraction makes its way to Hednesford Park between the same times, on August 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29, to Great Wyrley skate park, Landywood Lane, on Monday, July 21 from 2-4pm and moves to Green Lane fields in Rugeley from 2-5pm on July 29 and August 5, 12, 19 and 26.

Sailing club's 60 years earns royal approval

Report by Lisa O'Brien

PRINCESS Anne reflected on a sailing club's 60 years of success when she gave it the royal seal of approval.

As president of the Royal Yachting Association, she took a tour of South Staffordshire Sailing Club last Friday (July 11) and spoke to some of its 400 members.

The princess gave a speech before unveiling a plaque which commemorated both her visit and the club's 60th anniversary and cut a cake which had been made for the occasion.

She said: "I'm delighted to join you when you celebrate 60 years and to congratulate everybody."

"If you are looking for an example to see how clubs should function, this is definitely one of them."

"Lots of people have recognised the quality and experience of this club and what it does for all its members."

Courses

The club, based at Gailey Lea Lane, near Penkridge, aims to encourage and promote amateur dinghy sailing and has races at weekends.

Accredited by the Royal Yachting Association, it also offers training courses for adults and youngsters.

Juniors demonstrated sailing on the lake and the royal also looked at the club's many trophies and plaques – including its Royal Yachting Association Club of the Year trophy which it won in 2011.

The club, named Britain's best grassroots sports club a year later, started out at nearby Calf Heath Reservoir and moved to its current base in 1972.

Commodore Martin Warburton, aged 63, of Brewood, has been a member since 1996. He said: "It formed a major place for sailing in the West Midlands."

"We started off with a basic building but we built a new one when we got £80,000 of lottery funding in 2006. It was built by the members. We train both adults and juniors and we develop the youngsters to a level where we have one who is competing in the world youth championships.

The Princess Royal gives a speech during her visit

"Some members have their own boats but we do have training boats. We sail here every weekend. We do three races every Sunday and a race on Tuesday evenings in the summer. It's a fun club to be part of."

Of the royal's visit, he added: "It was a fantastic honour for her to come and recognise what a fantastic club this is."

Rod Jones, aged 78, of Tettenhall Wood, was one of the first members signing up on Boxing Day, 1954. He said: "You didn't have any training in those days. You learned yourself. The club has changed dramatically. The standard of sailing has gone up."

"I spoke to Princess Anne about the old days and the opening of the club house. It has been an honour for the club for her to be here."

Wally Horton, aged 88, of Brewood, who was a former commodore and club secretary and has been a member for 50 years, said: "I haven't sailed for years but it has been tremendous to be a part of the club and has meant happiness and comradeship."

"It's a tremendous occasion for Princess Anne to come."

Traditions

Martin Evans, a 57-year-old father-of-two from Codsall, became a member in 1972 and was commodore in 2007. He said he had spoken to the Princess Royal about club traditions and rebuilding the club house.

Cameron Whittaker, of Weston Road, Stafford, is the third generation in his family to become a club member after his father Andrew, 51, and grandfather Eric, 81, who has been a member for 43 years.

The eight-year-old presented the royal with a posy of flowers after she unveiled a commemorative plaque for the club's anniversary.

Princess Anne also met teachers and pupils from Westcroft Specialist Sports College in Wolverhampton, Sherbrook Primary in Cannock and Stafford Sea Scouts, which all use the club's facilities.

Acting assistant head at Sherbrook Primary, Sue Dutton, was at the club with around 10 pupils.

The 52-year-old, of Penkridge, who has also been a club member for more than 20 years, said: "The school uses the club once a week. They sail and canoe. It builds their confidence and teamwork skills and gets them active."

Collymore loses his challenge on article

FORMER footballer Stan Collymore has lost a challenge against a national newspaper article over his attack on former girlfriend Ulrika Jonsson.

The Cannock-born ex-striker, now a talkSPORT pundit, had accused 'The Sun' of publishing an inaccurate and misleading article, saying it had 'seriously misrepresented' him, 'had misled readers' and had also 'engaged in harassment'.

The paper reported that Jonsson branded him a hypocrite in light of racist abuse he suffered on Twitter.

Collymore claimed the paper wrongly accused him of trying to justify his actions. He complained to the Press Complaints Commission (PCC) which has ruled none of his concerns have been upheld, and that there was no breach of the Editor's Code of Practice.

A PCC report said: "As the article made clear that the complainant had compared his single 'open handed' strike with the harm which may have been caused by a more brutal attack, the commission concluded that readers would not have been misled by the headline or about the basis for the newspaper's view that the complainant had sought to 'justify' the attack."

Prize to solve the mystery

AN amateur dramatic group performs its latest show at Cannock Wood & Gendeshaw Village Hall next month.

Tickets are £10 per head which includes a hot supper. There will be a prize of £25 to the table which correctly guess the murderer.

There will be a licensed bar. Tickets are available from Annette 01543 675801 or Dorothy 01543 686161.

Amazon is asking for drones to be tested

ONLINE giant Amazon is asking for permission to run aerial tests of its delivery drones in the US.

Company boss Jeff Bezos wants to use the unmanned aircraft to deliver parcels in 30 minutes or less as part of a new Prime Air service. Amazon says that over the last five months it has been developing drones that can fly at up to 50mph while carrying a five pound package.

Amazon, which has a distribution warehouse in Rugeley, has been working on the drones in its labs, improving their agility and sensors for avoiding objects.

Permission

Now it has emerged that the company has asked the Federal Aviation Administration in the US for permission to test the drones outdoors.

At the moment outdoor testing of drones in the US is limited to six sites, but Amazon wants to run tests near its Seattle headquarters.

In its letter asking the FAA to for permission to test the drones Amazon said: "One day, seeing Amazon Prime Air will be as normal as seeing mail trucks on the road today, resulting in enormous benefits for consumers across the nation."

Thousands turn out for carnival fun in the sun

By Adam Burling

FAMILIES lined the sun-drenched streets to watch floats of all shapes and sizes at two carnivals.

The events in Cannock town centre and Brereton attracted thousands of people on one of the hottest days of the year.

A procession of floats – many with a wartime theme to mark the 100 years since the outbreak of the First World War – made its way from Chase Leisure Centre in Stafford Road, Cannock on Saturday afternoon, cheered on by crowds along Church Street and into the centre.

There was live music on the bandstand, including a performance from the Black Watch Pipe Band.

Paramedics gave a resuscitation demonstration there was a range of stalls and funfair rides. Charlotte Bates of Rugeley was formally crowned Cannock Carnival Queen, and the best float prize was won by Bridgeton Primary School for the Spitfire-inspired design.

Headteacher Joanne Raybould said: "This is the fourth time we have taken part. We really enjoy it and it is great to promote our local community."

Disbanded

Also among the procession was Derrick Ellison, acting as standard bearer for the Normandy Veterans Association for the final time at the carnival before it is disbanded.

The 74-year-old, who joined the Walsall and District branch as his father, Sgt Reg Ellison, was wounded in Normandy, said: "I want to do all I can to make people aware of the Normandy veterans. It tears me up a bit to think that the standard will be laid up soon, but I wanted everyone to see it while they still can."

A day at the movies was the theme for Brereton Carnival, which was revived last year after by Brereton & Ravenhill Association for Community Events (Brace).

The procession of floats and bands set off from Hawkins Yard in Redbrook Lane and ended up at Ravenhill Park where there were attractions including beer tents, fairground rides, live music from the Rock Dogs, stilt walkers and group displays.

IN MY VIEW

with Mark Andrews

BARONESS Butler-Sloss, the aunt of actor Nigel Havers, has stepped down from her role as chairman of an inquiry into allegations of a child-abuse cover-up before she even started.

She was supposed to be investigating claims that the establishment – including senior figures in the police, clergy and judiciary, as well as a number of MPs – had tried to hush the whole thing up. Some said, as the sister of the Attorney General of the time, she was too close to the establishment herself.

It probably didn't help when her nephew, actor Nigel Havers, weighed in to defend his aunt's honour, but one would not envy the Home Secretary in choosing a replacement. A senior judge who is not part of the establishment?

WOT did yo do fer Black Country Day, then mucker?

When Dudley musician 'Black Country Gaz' Sawers first had the idea for a day to celebrate all that is best about the Cradle of British Industry, he could never have guessed how it would have taken off, with word about the event even spreading to the heart of Downing Street. Even the Chancellor of the Exchequer got in on the act by posing with a Black Country flag.

The thing that has made the past few days so memorable was that it was not something imposed on the region by the great and the good, but that it actually came from the people of the Black Country themselves. Yes, the councils played an important role in supporting it, but it truly was a grass roots event. Even the flag was designed by Stourbridge schoolgirl, Gracie Shepherd.

While the Government and lottery pours millions of pounds into so-called cultural events designed to promote the various parts of Britain, Black Country Mon just gets on with it – no PR consultants, no glossy advertising, just a lot of hard graft.

This was the ingenuity which turned the Black Country into the industrial powerhouse of the world. Bostin', ay it?

SUPPOSE you won £52,000 on the lottery, or maybe the Premium Bonds, or inherited it in a will. What would you do? Carefully consider how you will use the money? Maybe think about paying off the mortgage, or a new car perhaps?

Well when Michaela Hutchings of Lichfield incorrectly had £52,000 paid into her account by the city council, she went out to Birmingham's Bull Ring shopping centre and blew £8,000 on designer clothes within 48 hours. She has since been ordered to pay the money back or face going to jail, and she claims she is being victimised because she is a bit of a looker. Beauty is in the eye of the beholder.

But she is hardly a model of financial responsibility, is she?

Runners pretty in pink for fundraiser

The County Showground in Stafford turned into a sea of pink for Race For Life, as ADAM BURLING reports

STAFFORD'S County Showground was a riot of pink as around 2,000 women donned colourful outfits to take part in this year's Race For Life.

While the storm clouds gathered, the rain largely held off for last week's event, which raised money for Cancer Research. Starting the 3.2 mile run was seven-year-old cancer sufferer Daisy May Trainor, and organisers hope to have raised £100,000 to help fight all types of cancer.

Amelia Gunn-Russell, of High Offley, near Eccleshall, who is recovering from breast cancer, was taking part with a group of around 20 friends, including work colleague Lynne Newell who had also been treated for breast cancer.

The 46-year-old play worker on the children's ward at Stafford Hospital, said she had really enjoyed the race.

"It's been great fun," said Amelia. "We broke out into a bit of a sprint at the end, we walked then ran, walked then ran."

Support

"But it's all about having your friends around you for it."

Amelia, whose husband Duncan was dressed in a pink tutu to support her during the race, was diagnosed with breast cancer in February this year.

Since then she has had a double mastectomy and is now nine weeks into a programme of chemotherapy.

"I have good weeks and bad, but this week I'm having a good one," she said. "It hasn't held me back at all."

"Three of us on the children's ward had cancer scares this year, although mine was the most serious."

"My friend Lynne Newell, one of the senior nurses on the ward, also had surgery, and a group of us got together and thought we would do the Race For Life."

Amelia was also supported by her children Megan, aged 11 and Angus, eight.

In May this year Amelia raised £1,400 for 1st Edmond Scouts in Shropshire by having her head shaved.

The money will go towards a trip to Menin Gate in the key First World War battlefield of Ypres in Belgium on August 4, to mark the centenary of the

For Life at Telford. She said this year's race was in memory of her grandmother Geneva Jackson who died from lung cancer in January last year at the age of 94.

Louise Johnson and her 30-year-old sister Katie Hood, both of Cannock, have lost family members to cancer and took part to remember them. They were also there to support their friend, 39-year-old Tracey Silvester, of Norton Canes, who lost both of her parents to the disease.

Mother-of-two Louise, aged 33, who works in advertising, said: "It was really emotional seeing the names of loved ones on people's backs."

The trio raised nearly £700 between them.

Also taking part was 29-year-old nurse Lucy Biggs, from Stafford.

"I have done it twice before," she said.

"I have lost a couple of family members to cancer so I just wanted to raise some money."

Daughters

"I ran the race with two friends from work. I did it in around 32 minutes, which I was pleased with."

A team of staff from Francesco's in Stafford raised £500 from their efforts.

Natalie Eustace, aged 37, took part in the Race For Life within the grounds of Himley Hall at Dudley. She was with her friend Sam Priest and their daughters, Annalise, 11, and Alicia, 10, on the day.

Mrs Eustace, of Hednesford Road, Heath Hayes, said it was their third in a row having previously ran in Walsall and Telford. The group always chose a fancy dress theme, this year picking St Trinian's outfits complete with hockey sticks.

That proved useful for Sam who had to hobble around the course after sustaining a foot injury.

They were determined to complete the course to help raise more than £150.

It had taken on special significance for Mrs Eustace's family as her father Keith, 77, had recently received news he was clear of bowel cancer.

WEEK IN POLITICS

with Daniel Wainwright

THERE are times I wonder if some of the Tories enjoy a good strike.

It gives them the chance to remind the country of Labour's reliance on the unions and try to get everyone to gang up on them.

It's our children who suffered the loss of a day's precious education, the critics say. It's the hardworking (all the parties love that word) parents who had to make alternative arrangements. The unions say they're doing this for everyone. The Tories say they're hurting everyone.

The taxpaying public are playing piggy in the middle while our kids' education and future is in an emotional custody battle between opposing ideologies. The unions make the valid point that it wasn't lollipop ladies, bin men or social workers that caused the recession.

Neither was it the children or the mums and dads who have been inconvenienced by a shut school or left with a full bin on the basis of a strike justified with turnouts as low as 20 per cent in some unions.

Firefighters had a much bigger turnout for their Ballot.

But their own reasons for striking – particularly the concern over 60-year-old firefighters being expected to carry people out of burning buildings due to pension reforms – were swept up in a general wave of public sector discontent because everyone chose the same day to walk out. Everyone walking out at once might have grabbed the headlines, but it also let the Government to condemn them en masse rather than address the many and varied concerns each union has.

Meanwhile Tory, Lib Dem and Labour MPs who either imposed miserable austerity on the country or presided over years of unsustainable spending (debate those points among yourselves) were probably not too bothered by schools shutting.

They earn more than double the national average salary. I can't imagine any of them was particularly stretched by the extra childcare costs.

At least the Tories took a side, whether rightly or wrongly, in condemning the strike.

Labour chose to neither support nor condemn it officially even though its bread is buttered by the unions and their donations.

It's a strange position to take because Labour owes its very existence to the trade union movement.

I don't see why Ed Miliband needs to appear so coy about it.

He could do with working out exactly where he stands with public sector strikes so the unions know what they're letting themselves in for if he becomes Prime Minister.

As any 'hardworking' person affected by the walkouts will attest, playing piggy in the middle is no fun at all.

Visitors welcome plans for designer retail outlet

PLANS for a new designer outlet village in Cannock have been unveiled to the public for the first time.

Many people welcomed the scheme at the consultation event, saying it was something the town and the area badly needed.

Hazel Demaine, aged 49, from Hednesford, said: "I'm all for the scheme. I go to Cheshire Oaks about three times a year but won't need to anymore. This will be on my doorstep."

Surveyor Terry Pritchard, aged 63, who lives just off Lichfield Road in Cannock, said: "The town centre is not what it used to be. It's time to think outside the box and go for something like this."

"The job creation is brilliant for Cannock as well. It's something we need."

Problems

He did raise concerns, however, over possible traffic problems.

"It's already busy on the roundabout along Eastern Way. All the cars from the outlet village could make it even worse, although the changes they are making to the roads could ease the problems."

Under the plans there will also be a tourist information centre, a play park, and new transport links between the train station, town centre and the outlet village.

Big names such as Superdry, Paul Smith and Ralph Lauren are likely to open at the site off Lichfield Road next to Mill Green Nature Reserve.

Traffic improvements are also proposed including new lanes and slip roads added along Eastern Way, as well as the layout of the roundabout near the Biffa waste site overhauled.

And council bosses have revealed highway improvements are likely to be needed all the way to Churchbridge to cope with millions of anticipated visitors. A 2,000-space car park is included – including a multi-storey.

Giles Membrey, managing director of developers Rioja Developments, said: "Most people have been excited to see the plans."

"We haven't got names of shops who will be coming yet but they will be top end."

The outlet village will be built in two phases, with the cinema included in the first stage.

Terry Morley from Holder Mathias Architects, added: "It will be outdoors but covered. There will be a combination of streets and squares."

"It will look very attractive." Plans will be formally lodged later in the year.

NHS on the brink of insolvency

AT a time when the National Health Service teeters on the brink of insolvency, with our citizens suffering the pain of the deepest recession in living memory, Liberal Democrat Michael Moore seeks to enshrine in law our commitment to overseas aid, at a fixed minimum rate.

The MP for Berwickshire, Roxburgh and Selkirk seems not to be aware that citizens of the countries to which British ring-fenced aid is sent continue to flood into our country and avail themselves of benefits engendered by generations of the indigenous population.

How can his party, and their Tory coalition partners, endorse student tuition fees, cut benefits for the poorest members of our society and advocate means-testing of pensioners' winter fuel allowance, while heaping billions of pounds worth of aid upon foreign nations?

A V HARRISON
Great Wyrley

Safety of patients is main priority

I AM writing in response to the article referring to a Stafford's Health Scrutiny Committee meeting which I attended with the chair of Stafford and Surrounds Clinical Commissioning Group Dr Anne-Marie Houldler.

I wish to put my comments and your subsequent article: 'No one wants to work in Stafford,' into context.

Dr Houldler and I had been invited to attend the meeting to discuss a range of issues relating to health services locally, including the current fragility of Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust. As is well documented, the Trust is finding it increasingly difficult to recruit and retain sufficient staffing levels, at an appropriate level, to ensure the ongoing safety of services.

The Trust is doing all it can to recruit and retain staff but the fact remains that they are struggling to attract sufficient numbers of qualified nurses to avoid having to rely on agency or temporary staff. My comments were in no way intended to reflect on the staff currently working at the hospital. I have nothing but admiration for the staff who are doing a great job in very difficult circumstances.

Patient safety has and will always be the main priority for everyone involved and we are working closely with the Trust, neighbouring Trusts, Trust Special Administrators and other commissioners to ensure this.

Find more creative use of cash

A RECENT survey I read undertaken by ComRes covered a variety of results concerning different aspects of the NHS.

I must admit concern that most Britons would be willing to pay more tax to safeguard the NHS, and in the same breath accept the creep towards privatisation with a woolly proviso that it remained free.

Our elected 'representatives' do not have to rely on the NHS - handsome financial support from the State gives them privileged access to private services. Next year they will get a massive salary increase, while top tax rate has been reduced to 45p in the pound.

A Liberal Democrat MP wants a minimum level of foreign aid set in stone through legislation and we currently pay £55m/day gross for EU membership. Use of our money needs to be creative and supportive - not a convenience for waste by wealth.

L COOPER, Cannock

Latest cut may put lives under threat

THE Tory-run County Council's decision to attack the elderly, disabled and sick by ceasing to fund the free Social Alarm Service is an outrageous act that could threaten the lives, wellbeing and safety of lots of vulnerable residents in the county.

The service was jointly funded by the County Council and Cannock Chase Council, and is not a decision that district authority agrees with. Cannock councillors will make a decision on the future of the service on July 17.

I believe this odious cut will result in Tory County councillors and officers hanging their heads in shame, and my advice to all concerned is to ring up Mr Michael Harrison - Commissioner for Safety and Families on 01785 278148 and complain.

Amazing news from Mill Green proposals

I HAVE just got back from the exhibition for the new proposals for Mill Green, where I received some news.

The current roadworks between Hayes Way and the Poplars tip island is not part of the Mill Green development, the council received a grant and with money left over they had to 'use it or lose it', so they decided to spend it on old canal workings that they should have left to be done by the developers of Mill Green when they put in the new roads and used the left over money on something else much needed by the community.

Amazing isn't it?

Reward to nab plant thief caught on CCTV

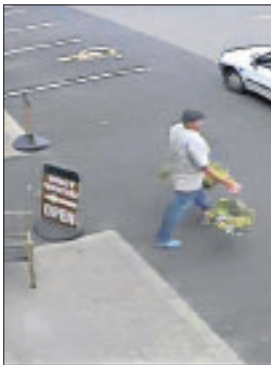

A BUSINESS owner has offered a £50 reward following the brazen theft of two plants from outside his store.

Stephen Griffiths who runs the family-owned Britannia Pine, on the A5 between Norton Canes and Brownhills, says an appeal has now launched to catch the culprits.

Staff say they have been angered by the 'sheer cheek' of the thief, who calmly loaded the plants worth £140 into his car boot as his children looked on.

The incident was caught on CCTV and footage shows the man stealing the two plant pots from outside the main entrance – after deciding against taking the hanging baskets.

The man pulled up in a white hatchback in the car park while the store was closed and opened the boot. Children can be seen watching in the back, while a woman also sits in the passenger seat.

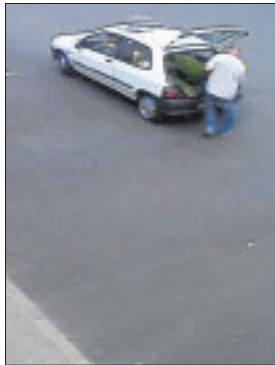

The thief takes the hanging baskets

He then decides to put them back

The culprit carries the plants to his car

Loading the plants into the car

Boot

After loading three hanging baskets into his boot, the thief begins to drive away. But after moving just a few feet, he reverses – and goes back for the ceramic pots. At first he starts dragging one of them, but then realises he will struggle to fit his haul in the boot.

So he removes the hanging baskets and dumps them on a bench, before carrying the other plants to his car. It all happened just 20 minutes after the shop had shut at 4pm on Sunday.

Mr Griffiths' daughter Catherine said: 'It's just the sheer cheek of it. We were broken into a few years ago and a load of furniture was stolen, so that was why we installed the cameras, but we have never had anything like this.'

Staffordshire Police are appealing for information. Call 101 quoting incident number 94 of July 7 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Cloudy2Clear Windows
- Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.'

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people

I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.' So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

10 Fun day will raise funds for hospital

The Chronicle Thursday, July 17, 2014

A FAMILY fun day has been organised next weekend to raise money for the chemotherapy ward at Stafford Hospital.

The event on Saturday, July 26 at Hawkins Sport and Social Club in Cheslyn Hay will be held from 12pm.

There will be a bouncy castle, barbecue, face painting, hair braiding, a football shoot out, a tombola and a raffle.

A quiz night will be held in the evening from 7.30pm at the Copice Lane venue. Tickets cost £2.50 per person with the top prize being a night at Perry Barr Greyhound Stadium.

The event has been organised by Michelle Smith whose father was treated at the hospital. Miss Smith, from Cannock, said: "My father was diagnosed with Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma in January 2012.

"He underwent some arduous treatment. However his strength, determination and the care he received at Stafford Hospital was second to none.

"Although his recovery was distressing for both the family and for him, he is now in remission.

"The staff at Stafford went beyond expectations to ensure the care was impeccable in every way and in an attempt to show our gratitude to the staff in the haematology and oncology departments we have orchestrated a charity day."

School choir in fine voice at concert

The Chase View choir members who performed at Victoria Hall in Stoke at a Great War centenary concert

A RUGELEY school choir helped to commemorate the anniversary of the outbreak of the First World War.

The singers from Chase View Primary were among five county schools taking part in the War and Peace concerts, organised by The Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent Music Education Hub. They were staged at Victoria Hall in Stoke-on-Trent.

The children were also treated to an appearance from the Staffordshire Young Singer of the Year, Alice Dix, who sang wartime classics.

The Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent Youth Orchestra had synchronised pyrotechnics accompany them as they ended proceedings with Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture.

Traders will be boosted by triathlon

TRADERS are backing the Ironman 70.3 contest which is coming to Staffordshire next year.

It will attract scores of athletes from across the country as well as thousands of spectators.

County Council bosses say the contest will provide a £2.7million boost to the local economy.

Chris Lewis, managing partner of the Lewis Partnership, which runs the Moat House in Acton Trussell, said: "The arrival of Ironman UK in Staffordshire is a massive opportunity to showcase our local area."

UK day of action for Big Project

Cannock Soroptimists

MARY Queen of Scots entertained more than 100 people at an event organised by Cannock Soroptimists.

Lesley Smith, curator of Tutbury Castle, dressed in authentic costume and spoke as Mary, telling everyone of her life. This was followed by Lesley coming out of character to pass on more fascinating nuggets relating to the life and times of Mary, Queen of Scots.

As always, the event was sold out and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended. A raffle to support the club's two main charities for the year, Pathway and Women's Aid, raised more than £350.

On Saturday, July 19, the club will be joining with all other clubs in the UK in the Day of Action to raise awareness and funds for the BIG (Birthing in the Gambia) project.

A coffee morning with a raffle and bring & buy will be held at the home of Soroptimist Shirley Brown between 10am and 12.30pm. Tickets cost £4.

The BIG Project is a partnership between Soroptimist International Great Britain and Ireland (SIGBI) and the international medical charity Maternal and Child Health Advocacy International (MCAI) - and its partner Advanced Life Support Group (ALSG).

This is a three year fundraising challenge which will save the lives of countless critically ill women, babies and children in the Gambia. More information about all of SI Cannock's events is available at www.sigbi.org/cannock-and-district

THE Cannock Chase Ladies Probud Club's annual lunch was held at the Barns restaurant.

Each of the five Probud clubs in the area were represented as follows: Mr Gerry Hindley, chairman of Cannock and District Probud Club, accompanied by his wife Dandy; Mrs Joyce Cox, secretary of Cannock & District Ladies Probud Club; Mr Jim Corke, chairman of Hednesford Probud Club, accompanied by his wife Pamela and Mr Peter Wood, chairman of Cannock Chase Probud Club, accompanied by his wife Janet. Mr Roland Stanley accompanied the ladies club chairman and Mrs Stanley thanked him for his support.

The assembled members and guests then enjoyed a splendid luncheon before Mrs Stanley introduced David St John who provided the entertainment.

He sang songs from the First World War specially for Dora Leighton who is now 98 years young and a founder member of the club.

Cecily Garbett gave the vote of thanks.

Impressed by city at AGM

SEVERAL ladies went to the Townswomen's Guild AGM in Cardiff.

They were impressed with the beauty of the city, the welcome given to them by the mayor and the colourful parade of guild banners.

The two topics discussed were 1): Should the voting age be lowered to 16? and

Cheslyn Hay TWG

2): Should the TWG urge the government to enforce and extend the existing legislation regarding FGM?

After listening to many points of view the majority said no to lowering the voting age and yes to enforcing the banning of FGM, which is already illegal in this country.

Cheslyn Hay group will be holding a coffee morning and a table top sale on August 7 at the Salem chapel hall, with proceeds going to the guild's chosen charities.

At a strawberry tea, a tombola and craft stalls will raise money for the guild.

Mother let her home be used to grow drug

A YOUNG mother heavily in debt allowed cannabis growers in to her home to set up a factory, a court heard.

Police carried out a raid on the home of mother-of-two Nicola Mason in Great Wyrley last November and immediately smelled cannabis.

Mason told officers straight away that the drugs were growing in the loft. They found cannabis plants, lighting, transformers and a water butt. Had it been harvested the crop would have been worth up to £10,350, Miss Fiona Cortese, prosecuting, told Stafford Crown Court.

Mason, aged 30, of Tower View Road, who admitted permitting her premises to be used in the production of cannabis, was given an 18-month community order with a £60 surcharge to pay. Recorder Ms Tina Landale told her: "More experienced criminals use people like you to allow themselves to profit from crime."

"I have been impressed with the work you have done to sort your life out," Miss Cortese said the search warrant was executed on November 20. Along with the plants and equipment, the electricity meter had been bypassed.

When questioned, Mason said the plants had been in her loft for about two weeks.

She said she met someone in a pub and they asked her to do it. She had lost her job and had children to support.

Mr Mark Nicholls, defending, said the prosecution did not dispute Mason's version of events.

He said: "She got herself in to this difficulty through financial problems."

Restaurant award follows secret visit

Dilshad restaurant owner Tony Uddin with celebrity chef Rustie Lee at the award ceremony

AN Indian restaurant has added another award to its growing list after scooping a top gong for excellence.

The Dilshad, in Cannock Road, Chads Moor, has won a clutch of awards since opening in 1979. Its latest accolade is The Guild Award of Excellence 2014 for the town of Cannock.

The event was run by The Guild of Bangladeshi Restaurateurs. Owner Tony Uddin was at the award night held at Walsall Town Hall. Celebrity TV chef Rustie Lee was special guest.

The Dilshad won the award following a secret visit from food critics. It was judged on customer service, food quality and cleanliness.

Mr Uddin said: "We are absolutely delighted to be given this prestigious award for excellence."

"We are very passionate about offering excellent food and customer service at the Dilshad and to be recognised in this way shows what we are doing is appreciated."

Scooting along for annual fun day

Members of the Cannock Crusaders Scooter Club meet up for the ride out with Ian Mason and Susan Dixon on the bike

MORE than 150 scooter enthusiasts – including a club from Cannock – took to the streets for an annual fun day. They met at Molineux on Saturday as part of East Park Scooter Club's annual fun day. The group rode in convoy from the stadium, through Wolverhampton city centre and onto The Victoria Pub in East Park for the fun day. Cannock Crusaders were among those attending. Organiser David Thompson said there was a fantastic turnout. He said: "It was fantastic to have so many people turn out and was great to be able to ride through Wolverhampton city centre and see the reaction from people. "This year we are raising money for Help for Heroes. I have been told it was our most successful day so far."

Union's library concerns

UNION chiefs have raised concerns that a 'significant' number of jobs could be lost under plans to get volunteers to run libraries.

More than half the libraries across Staffordshire could be taken over by community groups to help save £1.3 million over the next three years. Staffordshire County Council has launched a 12-week consultation on the proposals. Libraries would be classed as 'library local', 'core' or 'extras'. Those classed as 'local' would be taken over by the community. Some councillors and union bosses have said they are 'very concerned' by the proposals and expressed fears over the expectations being placed on volunteers. The council has confirmed there will be redundancies if proposals go ahead. Steve Elsey, Staffordshire Unison Branch Secretary, said: "We don't know how many jobs will be affected but it will be significant with the proposals not having any permanent staff at the libraries earmarked to run by communities. "Experienced and qualified librarians have to be at the core of any sustainable and excellent library service." Libraries chief Councillor Mike Lawrence admitted hours at larger sites could also be cut.

Grass blaze warning

CHILDREN are being warned about the danger of starting grass fires. The alert comes as part of Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service's Flames Aren't Games campaign.

Firefighters, community support officers and volunteers have been visiting schools and youth groups to tell of the dangers of deliberately starting small bin and grass blazes. Head of risk reduction, Glynn Luznyj, said: "We are absolutely determined to tackle grass fires which tend to increase during school holidays. Grass fires spread rapidly and pose a very real danger both to people and wildlife."

Candidate chosen by Tories for election

A LANCASHIRE councillor has been chosen to replace Cannock Chase MP Aidan Burley as a Tory candidate at the next general election.

Amanda Milling, who grew up in Burton-on-Trent, came out on top of the all-woman shortlist of three candidates at a meeting last Saturday.

She has vowed to support local businesses and help create jobs in the area.

Miss Milling, aged 39, has served as a councillor in Lancashire for the last five years but is now looking for a house in Cannock.

Her father was managing director of the Britool Ltd tools firm, in Churchbridge.

Miss Milling is now a company director for a market research business in Leeds.

She began leafleting for the Conservative Party when she was a teenager and has been a campaign organiser for local and general elections.

Candidate Amanda Milling

Important

She said: "I am honoured to have been selected for Cannock Chase and it is great to be returning to Staffordshire as a prospective MP."

"I'll be living in the constituency to be as accessible as possible to residents, so they can easily come and see me for help and advice. It's really important that I work hard with councillors and local people to really tackle the issues that matter."

"Creating jobs is essential to create a strong future for Cannock Chase, so I'll work hard to support local companies to create new roles for hard-working people in the area."

Mr Burley is standing down next year after just one term.

When Mr Burley won the seat in 2010 it came with the biggest swing to the Tories from Labour. He won with a 3,195 majority.

But the Tories have been pushed into third place on Cannock Chase District Council following the election of UKIP councillors in May and the resignation of Mr Burley's fiancée, Councillor Jodie Jones, who now sits as an independent.

Labour candidate Janos Toth said: "I congratulate Amanda Milling on becoming the Tory Candidate. I understand she lives in Rosendale, Lancashire and is a councillor there."

"It's well over 100 miles away from Cannock Chase. They fore, I am more than happy to give Amanda a tour of the Cannock Chase constituency."

Free gym use for servicemen to be extended

MORE than 100 members of the armed forces are set to be given the chance to use leisure centres for free.

The leisure concessions scheme was first introduced by Cannock Chase Council in June 2012 and it has now been proposed that it should run for another year.

The offer allows servicemen and women to use fitness suites and swimming pools at both Chase and Rugeley leisure centres at no cost.

Wigan Leisure and Culture Trust (WLCT), the company in charge of leisure centres across Cannock, has agreed to cover the cost of the scheme for another 12 months. Cannock Chase Council's cabinet will decide on the extension of the scheme at a meeting today (Thursday). Officers have recommended approval.

In a report to cabinet, head of commissioning Mike Edmonds, says: "Cabinet are recommended to continue with this offer for 2014-15 in recognition of the commitment made by armed forces men and women to this country in their service throughout the world."

The report adds there are currently 103 members of the armed forces registered at leisure centres in Cannock.

Gallery unveils artist's former mayor portrait

The portrait in the National Gallery of Ken Livingstone by artist Andrew Tift

Artist Andrew Tift in his studio

A GREAT Wyrley-born artist's latest work has been unveiled at the National Gallery – a portrait of former London Mayor Ken Livingstone.

Andrew Tift's paintings of politicians, comedians and authors have already been displayed across the globe. This latest portrait was commissioned after Tift won the 2006 BP Portrait Award for his painting of Kitty Godley, first wife of the artist Lucian Freud.

Mr Tift, who has worked as a professional artist for 20 years from his home in Walsall, has built up a reputation for getting the personality of his subject across.

Following school at Great Wyrley High, he went to Stafford College of Art to do a foundation course in art and drawing, and then to Birmingham Art College, and a BA Hons and MA with distinction in illustration.

Garden

For his latest work, Mr Tift had a series of sittings with the former mayor and they decided to set the portrait in his back garden in London on a summer day. It is painted in acrylic on canvas and took 11 months to complete.

Something for all as curtain up on 30 years

MOTOWN legend Martha Reeves will have theatregoers Dancing In The Street as she helps a Cannock venue mark its 30th anniversary.

Martha, who celebrates her 73rd birthday today (Thursday), is still actively performing with the Vandellas, and they appear at the Prince of Wales Centre in September.

It is one of a number of shows staged as the theatre marks 30 years this autumn. Manager Richard Kay said he felt it was the best year yet at the Church Street venue.

Martha, whose 1964 signature tune was voted number four in the nation's favourite Motown song, also hit the charts with Jimmy Mack and Nowhere To Run. Her Cannock concert takes place on Friday, September 26, from 7.30pm, with tickets priced at £22.50.

Other attractions include Our House the musical, based on the hits of Madness and Cannock Chase Drama Society's production of Me and My Girl.

Favourites

September highlights range from Rent, performed by Upstage Productions, the Mersey Beatles and The Searchers. Old favourites Chubby Brown, Ann Breen, Raymond Froggatt and Derek Acorah all make welcome returns during the course of the season.

Showaddywaddy perform on November 28, following Andy Le Marr's Dazzling Variety Show.

Jaleo Flamenco, Ambient Night Productions' Bouncers and the ELO Experience all add to the diverse range on offer and former band members Billy Mitchell and Ray Laidlaw tell the Lindisfarne Story on October 29.

Couriers deliver hospice funds boost

A COURIER firm has delivered a major boost to Acorns Children's Hospice, APC Overnight, which has its headquarters at Kingswood Lakeside, Cannock, raised £5,000. Representatives from the firm's 115 UK and Ireland depots celebrated its 20th anniversary with a black tie ceremony at Birmingham's Hilton Metropole, hosted by comedian Hugh Dennis. The sum was raised by a raffle at the end of the evening. Tara Barnes, head of sales and marketing, and Emma Scott, head of human resources, made the donation to Charlotte Anson, new business development officer, and Elinor Eustace, corporate & partnerships manager at Acorns, at its Walstead Road hospice in Walsall. The £5,000 will be used to help provide specialist palliative care for children and to support their families.

Cash to delve into Hoard

RESEARCH into the Staffordshire Hoard has been given a boost after £84,000 was secured to fund two scientists.

The cash will allow Birmingham Museums to look further into the history of the artefacts, which have attracted visitors from across the globe.

In July 2009, Terry Herbert discovered the hoard of Anglo-Saxon treasure in a farmer's field in Hammerwich.

The money from the Esmée Fairbairn Collections Fund will pay for two specialist scientist posts at the Second City's museum and art gallery.

Bosses are also promising visitors more opportunities to meet those involved in research into the hoard.

Fascinating

Dr Ellen McAdam, director of Birmingham Museums Trust, said: "This support will allow us to carry out important research into this fascinating find."

Sally Colvin, of the Museums Association, said: "The collections fund selection committee was delighted to award funds to the Staffordshire Hoard project."

The hoard is jointly owned by Birmingham City and Stoke-on-Trent City Councils. A new Hoard gallery will open at Birmingham Museum & Art Gallery in October.

Repercussions of war felt across the region

RAILWAY stations across the nation were bustling with activity.

Thousands of part-time soldiers departing for their annual camp jostled with day-trippers making the most of the Bank Holiday weekend.

Life continued as normal in towns and villages around Staffordshire and the Black Country. On Saturday, August 1, 1914, throngs of people lined the streets in many towns to cheer the Territorials on their way, some units travelling by train while others were marching to camp.

There was a particularly large turnout in Wolverhampton where the men of the Royal Army Medical Corps were setting off on an 85-mile march to St Asaph in North Wales.

The soldiers left their Drill Hall in Stafford Street just after 4pm. Also in the parade were Ambulance wagons, members of the Army Cyclist Corps and others. They rested in Tong in Shropshire, 10 miles away, that evening. Next night they had reached Bletchley, near Market Drayton. But they would go no further. In the early hours, orders arrived to turn around and return to base.

The following day, Tuesday, August 4, at precisely 11pm, came the news that Britain was at war with Germany.

Already in St Asaph were around 920 men of the Walsall Territorials who had been given a hearty send-off on Sunday morning from the Drill Hall in Whitmore Street.

Also in Wales were 1,000 men of the 6th South Staffords, who had arrived that afternoon. Within 12 hours they were packing their kit bags and tents to return. The order had reached the camp at 2am. They arrived at Wolverhampton High Level station at 9.30am on Monday.

The Worcestershire Regiments, whose strongest corps was the 7th Battalion which included 240 men from Dudley and 130 from Oldbury, were at camp in Minehead, Somerset when they were recalled.

With war looking ever likely, the Government had held talks with the main railway companies and arrangements put in place for a takeover by the State in the case of emergency. Many trains due to have been used for Bank Holiday Monday excursions had been commandeered for troops.

Call-up papers began to arrive at police stations across the region for officers who were Army and Naval reservists. The Territorials, so recently recalled from camp, were at their Drill Halls on Tuesday for medical inspections and exercises.

Recruitment posters and newspaper advertisements began to appear calling on men with specific trades to enlist and large crowds of young men besieged the recruiting office in Broad Street, Wolverhampton.

Britain was at war and from Bridgnorth to Brownhills, Stafford to Smethwick, the repercussions were already being felt.

Heads in a spin over new theme park ride

Drayton Manor Theme Park has launched a new ride but as DIANE DAVIES reports, it is not for the faint hearted.

IT'S not the tallest ride at the theme park, it's not the fastest and at first glance could appear quite tame.

But the new £1.2 million Air Race is probably the most challenging beast in the park – demanding anyone to walk away from it without feeling just a tiny bit nauseous. Or in my case, as sick as a parrot.

A ride on the acrobatic Air Race literally turns your world upside down. Now I know how the Red Arrows pilots feel.

Riders are strapped into the seat of an aeroplane cars which is at the end of a long arm. It starts gently enough with the arms rotating around the control panel until fairly quickly each arm begins to turn.

Swooping

Before long each car is taken through a series of barrel rolls in both directions which see the 'pilots' hanging above the ground, swooping over the crowd and flying into a series of banks, loops and dives.

After experiencing accelerations of almost 4G there was a sense of relief as the car began to slow – but slow motion just made the sensation worse.

I quickly realised that closing my eyes just added to sick feeling although it is fairly difficult to maintain a focus when you are trying to work out which way up you are.

The new ride, which was officially launched by boy band The Vamps, is the black horse of any theme park and a challenge for even the most seasoned white knuckle riders.

Despite their tender years it must

Fasten your seatbelts and prepare for take-off with the new thrill ride

Drayton Manor's new Air Race ride is officially opened by boy band the Vamps have been a test for pop sensations The Vamps, including former Sutton Coldfield student Bradley Simpson, to walk away from the ride still looking cool after that stomach-churning adventure at the theme park, near Tamworth.

The boys, whose hits include 'Can We Dance' and 'Last Night', have 'High Hopes' for the new ride. They are set to hit the road with their debut headlining tour and a drew a huge crowd at the grand opening.

Colin Bryan, Group Managing Director, said: "The Vamps are one of the biggest acts we've had here at the park who are taking the world by storm, so we're thrilled to have them launching the new ride."

Yes vote for women bishops is 'overdue'

A PARISH priest has welcomed a vote which paves the way for women bishops as simply a matter of common sense.

Rev Kareen Lowther, vicar of Dunston with Copenhall parish church in Penkridge, said the 'yes' vote by the Church of England General Synod – which could see female bishops in place by the end of the year – was long overdue.

"It is important because God made human beings in his image, both male and female, so there have to be opportunities for women to become bishops," she said.

"But I think it will also improve the perception of the church to people outside the church, the people we are trying to relate to."

"That becomes more difficult when we are preaching a message of justice and hope and we are not treating women equally."

Members of the Church's governing body voted at York University on Monday in favour of a measure allowing women bishops.

Majority

The legislation received the necessary two thirds majority in all three Houses of the General Synod with 37 bishops voting in favour with two against and one abstention, 162 clergy in favour, 25 against and four abstentions.

In the crucial lay votes, made up of church members, there were 152 votes for, 45 against and five abstentions. It was that group which previously voted against the move in 2012.

The outcome of the vote has been welcomed by clergy in the West Midlands, both male and female.

For Rev Pippa Thorneycroft, who 20 years ago became one of the first women to be ordained as a priest in Lichfield Diocese, it was a significant moment in the history of the church.

Mrs Thorneycroft, aged 70, is now retired from the full-time clergy, although she has recently been working as interim team rector in Central Telford Parish.

She served as priest-in-charge at Shareshill and later as minister for the parish of Tettenthall Wood, including Christ Church and The Church of the Good Shepherd in Castletree. For 13 years she combined her parish work with the post of chaplain to the Queen.

"It was something that was always going to happen one day," she said. "I think as soon as we had women priests, it was only going to be a matter of time before we had women bishops."

Spitting fines unenforcable, says councillor

A CONTROVERSIAL move to introduce on-the-spot fines for yobs who spit in public have been knocked for being 'unenforcable.'

Council bosses in Cannock Chase are considering bringing in cash penalties for the 'repulsive' habit.

But former police officer Councillor Paul Snape said the idea was 'great in theory but unworkable in practice.'

The council meets today (Thursday) to discuss making spitting in the street illegal. If introduced, £50 fixed penalty notices will be handed out to offenders, just as they are for littering or dog fouling.

But Councillor Snape, who worked in the vice squad in Wolverhampton and was deputy chairman of the Police Federation when he retired, said: "As a former police officer with 31 years' service, I can only ask, who is going to enforce this?"

"I envisage problems in gathering evidence – people could just say they were having a coughing fit. "In my view it would be easier to approach an offender and say 'Please don't do that.' The alternative seems unenforcable to me."

There was support for the idea when it was first suggested and councillors asked for more information.

STUDENTS at Wolgarston High School battled it out for the House trophy on sports day.

Staff, students and parents attended the annual event.

The field was a sea of colour with students wearing blue, red, green and yellow for their respective Houses.

Some pupils even made banners to support their team mates.

A school spokesman said: "The students enjoyed the atmosphere and the sunshine. They were wonderful on the day."

Headteacher Philip Tapp presented the House trophy to Pyrenees captain Josh Tynan-Wilkins, Anna King and Casey Whittingham.

Himalayas House finished second with Rockies placed in third, just ahead of Alps.

FOCUS ON PENKRIDGE

Dog owners are urged to clean up after their pets

DOG owners are being reminded by the parish council to clean up after their pets while walking them in Penkridge.

Large signs will be installed in hotspot areas around the village calling on residents to pick up their dog's mess and bin it.

New stencils have also been handed to Penkridge Parish Council so warnings can be spray-painted onto paths and posts.

The council is also urging volunteers to come forward to encourage dog owners to pick up their pets' mess.

They will be armed with dog bags and leaflets to hand out to dog walkers.

Complained

Councillor Sandra Chambers, who represents the Penkridge North East ward, said Shoal Hill Common had been a particular problem that residents had complained about.

She added: "Most dog owners are very responsible people but there is a minority that continue to allow their dogs to foul and do not pick it up and these are the people who this campaign is aimed at."

"There are some areas in Penkridge that appear to be hotspots and we get a lot of complaints from people saying they cannot walk down a footpath or along canal towpaths because of the mess."

The three-sided signs are being borrowed from South Staffordshire District Council and bosses hope they will give strong warnings to people to clean up after their dogs.

Stencil signs have previously been used in Teddesley Road and near to Princefield First School.

Fines of up to £2,000 can now be given out to those who don't clean up after their pets.

Councillor Chambers added: "People get used to small permanent signs and do not always take notice so I am confident that this initiative will work."

Stage set for young performers

TWO Penkridge children are to tread the boards in major stage productions.

Cieran Lewis, aged 10, has landed the role of one of Fagin's boys in the South Staffordshire Musical Theatre production of Oliver!

Darci Dobson, aged nine, will perform as Tinkerbell in Bilston Operatic Company's Peter Pan in November.

Both are members of Lollipop Theatre School, which operates from St Dominic's High School for Girls in Brewood.

James Shaw, aged nine, of Bishops Wood, will take the lead role in Oliver! Tom Horton, from Brewood, will join Darci on stage as Michael.

The youngsters will share their roles with pupils from the Stagecoach Kidderminster theatre school.

Service to dedicate memorial

THE refurbished Penkridge War Memorial will be re-dedicated at a special service remembering those who lost their lives in World War I.

The event has been organised by Penkridge branch of The Royal British Legion alongside Penkridge Parish Council and St Michael and All Angels Church. It takes place at the church on Sunday August 3 at 2pm.

There will be a Civic parade before the service leaving the Haling Dene at 1.40pm and a concert by Trentham Brass Band in the grounds from 3.30pm. Admission is free.

On August 4 there will be a short service and wreath-laying ceremony from 11am and between 10pm-11pm, a candlelit vigil will be held at the church to coincide with a nationwide Royal British Legion campaign.

Artist's transport scenes in picture

Artist Christopher Holloway, who is showing his work at the Chasewater Innovation Centre

A SELF-taught artist and grandfather-of-one has put his work on show. Christopher Holloway is holding an exhibition at Chasewater Innovation Centre. It runs until tomorrow (Friday).

The 67-year-old, of West Bromwich, said: "My main hobby is painting in oils. I've been painting since I retired as a retail manager in 2004. It takes me six weeks to do a painting. They are quite detailed."

"I developed an interest in local transport. They are what I like to paint the most."

The artwork is also available to buy, with prints priced at £29 and original paintings sold between £50 and £380.

Mr Holloway added: "It's a lovely venue and I've been getting a pretty good response so far."

Upturn in traffic on toll road after trial

THE boss of the M6 Toll has hailed a 'spectacular' uplift in trade that has seen an increase of more than 400 lorries per day using the pay-as-you-go motorway.

It comes a year after a free trial period was introduced by operators Midlands Expressway Ltd for HGV drivers wishing to use the road.

Fees for members of the Road Haulage Association were waived, bringing an extra 1,000 trucks on to the road.

Tom Fanning, MEL chief executive, said hundreds had carried on using it despite the £11 charge now applying.

Figures showed an average of 48,252 users per day during the week between April and June compared with 44,939 last year.

Trucks

"The free month for lorries is not likely to be repeated," Mr Fanning said. "I'm not sure we would get anything out of it."

"We got an extra 1,000 trucks a day while the trial was on."

"But we're still getting 400 more a day after the event than we were before."

of plans for a new link road through South Staffordshire, aimed at cutting congestion on the M6.

Three options were drawn up by the Highways Agency. Two would see a road built between Featherstone and Hilton Park.

The Toll road's 160 millionth customer is expected within days. They will be given a year's free use.

All schools in Staffordshire and Stoke-on-Trent who own and maintain their own minibuses have been offered free use this year.

Customers visiting Norton Canes service area tomorrow (Friday) can win vouchers to use the road.

Dudley's EofE boys make bid for stardom with a nationwide tour

It's creepy and kooky family fun

THEY'RE creepy and they're kooky — they're The Addams Family and they've taken up residence in Brierley Hill.

Fans will be able to see Morticia, Gomez and co when the younger members of Brierley Hill Musical Theatre Company stage the Broadway musical version of the hit American horror comedy The Addams Family.

A cast of 22 aged 10 to 21 will perform the hit show at Brierley Hill Civic Hall in Bank Street from tonight to Saturday.

Co-ordinator Jo Gresswell said: "The show is a little different from the film because Wednesday is all grown up and had a boyfriend but it still provides all of the same comedy.

"We are delighted because we are the first to premiere it in the Midlands."

Tickets are £8 available on 0845 658 8095.

The young cast of The Addams Family get ready for some explosive fun at Brierley Hill

THEY tasted fame as a support act for supergroup McBusted and now Dudley-based rock band EofE are stepping out on their own with their first nationwide headline tour.

EofE's 13-date Unleashed tour which will kick off this November and will see the Black Country boys having a West Midlands homecoming gig at The Institute in Digbeth, Birmingham, on November 15.

Having impressed more than 380,000 fans while supporting pop stars McBusted (the McFly-Busted supergroup) on a 32-date arena tour this year, including several concerts at Birmingham LG Arena, the group is now stepping out of the support band shadows.

Momentum

The group was formed three years ago and is made up of lead vocalist Tom Harris, 17, from Nether-ton, Dan Bremner, 19, from Gornal, Luke Bradley, 18, also from Gornal, and drummer Nicky Waters, 25 who is Northumberland.

Lead singer Tom Harris: "Our own tour is something we have always wanted to do and now is the perfect time because we want to keep the momentum created by the McBusted tour."

The former Hillcrest Community College student added: "It was surreal to play an arena tour so early in our career."

"We loved the whole tour but it was sentimental to

The singer is spending summer at the family home in Church Road.

CHOICE

Kerrie Hayes

The Mill (Channel 4, 8pm)
The catchphrase 'trouble at t'mill' may have been coined back in 1967 on the early John Thaw series Inheritance, but it might as well have been created purely for this show, which began last year – for not only is it centred around a mill, but there's also frequently trouble at it. As the 19th-century period drama returns for a second run, that trouble takes the form of the Poor Law Amendment Act of 1834, which has led to desperate economic migrants from the South arriving at Quarry Bank in search of jobs. The workers in Styal village are concerned that the arrival of these impoverished families will drive down everyone's wages, and the impact of the new legislation hits home for apprentice Esther.

Curtain-raiser promises to be spectacular

The build-up to the Commonwealth Games has been almost as exhausting as taking part.

For months we've been told it's on its way and that it's going to be fantastic – well, at long last, it's time for Glasgow to put its money where its mouth is and prove that anything London can do, it can at least match.

Following the success of the Olympics in 2012, the city certainly has a lot to live up to, but Clare Balding, who will be on presenting duties for the BBC throughout the event, thinks Glasgow will do Scotland proud.

"It's amazing how much people are still talking about London 2012 and when they start talking about it they smile," says Balding. "It makes them feel warm inside and I think it showed the best of us as a country."

"I know that Glasgow will do the same, and the Scottish welcome will be warm and generous and enthusiastic. I just think it is a very good reflection of our ability to organise major events and stage them with humour and a great appreciation of entertainment value, and to do so efficiently and always with the athlete in mind."

She will present coverage of the opening ceremony at Celtic Park alongside Gary Lineker and Hazel Irvine; Irvine also provides the commentary with Huw Edwards.

The Queen's Baton Relay ends here, and 3,000 volunteers take part in what promises to be a spectacular show.

Competitors from 71 nations enter the arena in the Parade of Athletes before the Queen herself officially declares the Games open.

Will she arrive by helicopter with James Bond, as she did during the Olympics? Well, we'll have to wait and see.

Although most of the action takes place in Glasgow, the diving is being held in Edinburgh, which has hosted the Games twice in the past.

One person hoping to make a big splash there this time is Tom Daley. "He'll be defending his title," explains Balding. "It'll be really interesting for Tom. There's been a lot written about him, people questioning his motivation, his fitness, can he step up there? He's up against Matt Mitcham of Australia, who's his strongest competitor."

Balding will mostly be hanging out at the Tollcross International Swimming Centre in Glasgow, and will be keeping her eye on several swimmers, in particular Chad le Clos, the young South African whose father Bert made such an impact on viewers thanks to his emotional interview about his on during the 2012 Olympics.

"But there are some really strong swimmers from the UK, in particular from Scotland," claims Balding. "I hope Hannah Miley defends her medal title and then there's Michael Jamieson, who got the best result of all the swimmers at the Olympics with a silver medal. He's in there with a really good chance of getting Scotland's first gold in the pool."

Whatever happens, we're looking forward to 11 days of top-class competition, and hope a few more star performers become household names by the time the closing ceremony begins.

Commonwealth Games: Opening Ceremony, Wednesday, BBC1, 8.00pm

Monday
Food Unwrapped Channel 4, 8.30pm
Kate Quilton heads to Calabria, southern Italy, to find out how bitter-tasting liquorice roots are transformed into sweet treats. Jimmy Doherty discovers that some popular varieties of mushroom are not grown in woodland or even outdoors, while Matt Tebbutt uncovers the nasty bacteria potentially lurking in bean sprouts. He learns that consuming his favourite East Asian vegetable raw could be as risky as eating some oysters, so heads to a factory in Northern Ireland to find out how they can be sold as 'ready to eat'.

Long Lost Family
ITV, 9pm
Sara Price-Parker, 44, decided to trace her birth mother Denise after the death of her adoptive mum, but her 25-year search ended in disappointment when she discovered her parent had emigrated to Jamaica in the 1970s. Sara is now turning to Davina McCall and Nicky Campbell as her last hope to establish contact. Pauline Wood, 77, always longed for a sibling to play with while growing up as an adopted only child. At the age of 28, she learned her birth parents later got married and had a son, but the quest to find her brother has gone on for decades to no avail.

Tuesday
Hive Alive BBC2, 8pm
Chris Packham and Martha Kearney conclude their quest with Professor Adam Hart to explore the remarkable secrets of the lives and habits of bees. They discover how many of the tagged insects have survived over the frenetic midsummer week of nectar and pollen gathering and find out if they have collected enough food at this critical time to see them through the winter. They also investigate the deadly mating ritual of a queen and look at how bees can aid medical research, as well as how people can help them in return.

Wednesday
All Star Mr & Mrs ITV, 8pm
Phillip Schofield is joined by Loose Women anchor Kaye Adams and her husband Ian, actress Sue Holderness (Only Fools and Horses) and husband Mark, and former Strictly Come Dancing professional Vincent Simone with his fiancée Susan. The contestants find out how much they really know about their other halves, and the couple who give the most correct answers to a series of questions receive the chance to win £30,000 for their chosen charity. However, no one walks away empty-handed – the losing pairs each receive £5,000 for a good cause.

Thursday
Amazing Spaces Shed of the Year Channel 4, 8pm
New series. George Clarke presides over the 2014 Shed of the Year competition. Accompanied by craftsman Will Hardie, designer Max McMurdo and architect Laura Jane Clark, he visits a range of extraordinary and eccentric builds vying for the title across Britain, from an intricate shell grotto created inside a Second World War bunker, to a 1970s amusement arcade. In the first edition, focusing on the Unique and Eco categories, he explores a giant replica of a teapot, a Titanic museum, a cinema room, a shed made out of 5,000 wine bottles, and an egg-shaped studio and more.

Amazing Spaces Shed of the Year, Thursday, Channel 4, 8pm

Diamond Geezers
ITV, 9pm
Hatton Garden lies in Holborn, London, and has been the centre of London's jewellery trade since medieval times. The area houses numerous businesses, from skilled jewellery-makers to millionaire wheeler-dealers. This bling-tastic documentary focuses on some of the biggest characters who call the place home, including Michael Lynton, who has been creating bespoke pieces for more than 40 years. Others making their mark during the programme are Steve, a sole trader who makes a living from buying and selling gold and travels the country in search of his next big item.

Friday
On the Yorkshire Buses Channel 5, 8pm
A new school term starts and every bus in East Yorkshire Motor Services's fleet is needed, but a series of breakdowns means the engineers have their work cut out. Roadworks in Hull cause further delays and when passengers begin to complain, boss Peter Shipp calls a crisis meeting with his senior staff. Meanwhile, Scarborough drivers James and Steve go head to head in a sponsored eating challenge to raise money for a local hospice, tackling 12 burgers and a mound of fries washed down with milkshakes in just 40 minutes.

New Honda packs a punch

By John Griffiths

Super naked . . . there, bet that got your attention.

But since this is a motorcycle test report, we're not talking of an all-over tan but a class of high performance machine which grew out of the 'street fighter' class: a bike that packs a punch but stripped of excess plastic.

Aggressive looks are de rigueur for such machines, and at first sight the latest Honda CB1000R certainly looks the part – almost as if its profile was modelled on that of a crouching big cat, ready to spring.

Press the starter button and first impressions are reinforced by the urgent beating of the test bike's Akrapovic exhaust, making your heart-beat accelerate to match it. The CB1000R is a performer for the real world, based on many components from the legendary Fireblade.

It is relatively short wheelbase, built on a rigid aluminium frame with race-style single-sided swingarm, with brakes and suspension based on those of the race-winning super sport machine, as well as its engine and gearbox.

Weighing in at well under 500lb – one of the lightest in its class – power from the 124bhp from the 1,000cc engine is plentiful. The standard model is £9,399 while the combined ABS version comes in at £500 more.

The Fireblade-derived engine has been down-tuned (although I'd prefer to say re-tuned) so that what is lost in terms of top-end power is more than made up for with low to mid-range torque. Perhaps that doesn't suit some, but for me it creates a more usable, easy to ride road bike that's still rewarding and a lot of fun. It starts off pulling like a train, and gets better as the revs rise making it adept at powering out of slow corners or getting through the traffic with quick 'roll on, roll off' overtakes.

While you might expect it of larger capacity tourers, it was pretty impressive to find the bike would run smoothly through villages, sticking to the speed limits, in top (sixth) gear without complaint from the engine and then pull away rapidly, still without the need to change down.

That gives you an impression of the torquey nature of the engine, when you bear in mind that the same sixth gear will power the CB up to its estimated maximum of 150mph.

Acceleration is smooth, linear and predictable from very low revs (by bike standards) up to the red line.

Modified

Suspension, forks and brakes are also derived from the Fireblade, although modified to take account of the CB's extra weight.

It's also a pleasant surprise for riders like me that the suspension isn't as pogo-stick stiff as some sports bikes, which is fine on track but horrible on a typically bumpy British road. It copes well with the bumps, making cornering more of a predictable and comfortable experience.

Honda has tuned the suspension for a near-perfect balance of ride comfort and accomplished cornering, helped by the bike's inherent balance, light weight and relatively short wheelbase.

It handles like a superbike, with no sense of weight as you tip into a corner or when you straighten out. It inspires confidence and creates its own fun factor through the twisty bits.

The riding position is ideal for the job, the rider leaning slightly forward to the bars but not so extreme as some pure sportsters.

The minimalist front bodywork (the small wind deflector in front of the digital instrument binnacle) doesn't look big enough to be of practical use but for a rider of my size (pretty average) it proved more than an ornament.

Of course there's wind blast at 60 to 70mph, but rather than being uncomfortable I found the pressure only served to take the weight off my wrists and arms so a 200-mile test ride didn't cause any more strain to aging muscles than a fully-faired tourer.

A quick burst of acceleration will be felt in the arms as your body gets pushed back, but that's surely another little part of the thrill of riding a quick bike. It's like hanging on to a thoroughbred horse.

The seat is surprisingly comfortable but the pillion is minimal and I wouldn't fancy spending too much time on that. The sharp rear-end styling doesn't leave a lot of room for strapping on any luggage, either, although you can buy a cargo net from Honda's accessory range.

The CB1000R is one of a trio of one-litre Hondas which have a lot in common but are in fact very different machines. Its other sibling, the CBF1000FA, also shares the basic Fireblade engine but comes with a bikini fairing, touring-style seats and some 20bhp less.

Bikes, probably more than cars, are a very subjective choice and much depends on rider preferences and the type of use you intend to put it to.

The CB1000R has the advantage of strikingly good, futuristic looks and an responsive engine with Honda's legendary smooth and reliable nature. It offers a lot of fun for a road-going machine, and a naked bike experience which for many provides the essence of motorcycling.

Price: £9,399 (£9,899 with ABS).

Wraps off Bentley special

Luxury car maker Bentley has pulled the wraps off its new racecar-inspired Continental GT3-R.

Taking inspiration from the firm's new GT3-spec competition machine, the GT3-R is said to blend high performance with Bentley's trademark luxury approach to motoring.

The GT3-R will be a rare beast, too. Just 300 models will be made, conveniently timed to coincide with Bentley's recent success at the second round of the Blancpain Endurance Series at Silverstone – taking a win in the first UK race for the company in 84 years.

All 300 examples of the Continental GT3-R will be hand-built in Crewe and finished in Bentley's motorsport division.

Bentley engineers have developed a retuned version of the firm's race-proven, high performance 4.0-litre twin-turbo V8 for the GT3-R.

Developing 580 horsepower together with a 100kg weight reduction and shorter gearing, the Continental GT3-R is the fastest-accelerating Bentley with a zero to 60mph sprint time of 3.6 seconds.

Tweaks to the car's all-wheel drive system and electronic stability control are said to further boost the car's performance over the standard car.

There's no word on price, but you can expect the limited edition GT3-R to be a significant sum given its extra performance and added exclusivity.

Vauxhall reveal new Corsa

The fourth-generation Corsa will reach production later this year and is set to raise the class benchmark for driveability, comfort and practicality in a model which has become a household name for British small-car buyers.

Still one the UK's top-selling and best-loved cars, the current model continues to garner affection from its owners thanks to its combination of compact exterior dimensions and clever use of cabin space – major considerations when the new car was conceived.

As a result, the new fourth-generation Corsa is near-identical in length to the current model and retains its good space utilisation for occupants.

But almost every other element of its design and engineering has changed, significantly improving the car's driveability, efficiency, connectivity and overall ownership experience.

All of the car's body panels are new, and provide greater definition between the 'sporty' look of the three-door and the 'premium' five-door models. For the first time on a Corsa the car's striking profile has been overlaid with Brit Mark Adams' sculptural design, including elements such as the 'blade' running across the lower door-sections.

Almost every element of the Corsa's generous cabin is completely new, including a re-designed instrument panel and dashboard, and improved levels of functionality, highlighted by Vauxhall's IntelliLink system – its first use in a high-volume application.

Under the bonnet, new engines and transmissions will be available from launch. A 1.0-litre, three-cylinder ECOTEC Direct Injection Turbo – just one of a raft of new engines from Vauxhall's new powertrain offensive – will headline in the petrol offerings, while a much-improved 1.3 CDTi, which meets stringent Euro-6 regulations, will appeal to diesel buyers.

Improved driveability to class-leading standards has been a key goal during the New Corsa's development, and to achieve this it has a completely re-designed chassis, with no carry-over componentry, and an emphasis on exceptional rolling refinement, ride quality, precise handling and stability.

"Corsa remains the best-selling car in Vauxhall's range, which is testament to the continued appeal of the current model to UK buyers, supported by a raft of innovative sales programmes that make the car even more enticing," said Tim Tozer, Vauxhall's chairman and managing director. So New Corsa has its work cut out – both as a worthy replacement for the existing car later this year, and as a new challenger in a highly competitive class. "We're confident that it will jump both hurdles with ease."

Currently in its third generation, the Corsa has been Vauxhall's best-selling car for many years, generally sitting at number two in the overall passenger car sales charts. However, its popularity in Scotland and Northern Ireland has blossomed over the years, where it tops the overall sales charts, while being Scotland's best-selling car for the last five full years.

And there's no sign that sales are slowing. In its last full year, Vauxhall sold 83,000 Corsas in the UK, outstripping total full-range sales of manufacturers like SEAT, Skoda, Renault and Citroen. Such is its popularity, that the UK is now the lead market for Corsa by a large margin (Germany was the second biggest market in 2013 with around 50,000 sales).

Taking Europe as a whole, Corsa is the second most popular nameplate across the continent after 32 years in the market. During that time, over 12 million have been sold, or an average of 370,000 cars each year.

More details about New Corsa, including full pricing, will be revealed later in the year.

Cutting edge technology from Jaguar Land Rover

Jaguar Land Rover is creating cutting-edge technologies to develop new ways to give drivers higher quality, life-like graphics and information that will offer an enhanced 'virtual' view of the road or race track.

The 'Jaguar Virtual Windscreen' concept uses the entire windscreen as a display so the driver's eyes need never leave the road. High quality hazard, speed and navigation icons could all be projected onto the screen together. For performance drivers, imagery that could aid track driving includes:

Racing line and braking guidance. Virtual racing lines on the windscreen appear to be marked on the track ahead for optimum racing line, with changes in colour to indicate braking guidance.

Ghost car racing. Improve your lap times by racing a 'ghost car' visualisation of your car on a previous lap, or compete against a lap uploaded from another driver.

Virtual cones can be laid out on the track ahead for driver training. These could be moved as the driver's ability improves.

Dr Wolfgang Eppe, director of research and technology for Jaguar Land Rover, said: "We are working on research projects that will give the driver better information to enhance the driving experience. By presenting the highest quality imagery possible, a driver need only look at a display once. Showing virtual images that allow the driver to accurately judge speed and distance will enable better decision-making and offer real benefits for every-day driving on the road, or the track."

Distraction

Jaguar Land Rover is developing a gesture control system to keep the driver's eyes on the road and reduce distraction by limiting the need to look at or feel for buttons and switches to press.

Jaguar Land Rover's gesture control research uses E-Field Sensing, which is based on the latest capacitive discharge touch screens and gives much greater accuracy than ever before.

A smartphone today detects the proximity of a user's finger from 5mm. The Jaguar Land Rover system increases the range of the sensing field to around 15cm which means the system can be used to accurately track a user's hand and any gestures it makes inside the car.

"Gesture control has already become an accepted form of controlling anything from TV sets to games consoles. The next logical step is to control selected in-car features. We have identified which functions still need to be controlled by physical buttons and which could be controlled by gesture and carefully calibrated motion sensors," said Dr Eppe. "The system is currently being tested on a number of features including sunblinds, rear wipers and satellite navigation maps."

"It has the potential to be on sale within the next few years."

Jaguar Land Rover's research team is also looking at technology that could replace rear view and external mirrors with cameras and virtual displays. Using two-dimensional imaging to replace mirrors is limited by the fact that single plane images on a screen do not allow the driver to accurately judge the distance or speed of other road users.

Jaguar Land Rover has therefore developed an innovative 3D instrument cluster, which uses the latest head- and eye-tracking technology to create a natural-looking, spec-free 3D image on the instrument panel. Cameras positioned in the instrument binnacle or steering column area track the position of the user's head and eyes. Software then adjusts the image projection in order to create a 3D effect by feeding each eye two slightly differing angles of a particular image. This creates the perception of depth which allows the driver to judge distance.

Put personal touch on new Toyota Aygo

By Ian Donaldson

If you know Toyota's back story there's a theme that surfaces every few years; we know we make reliable cars, now we're going to make them more fun too.

That mantra has come round the world, being uttered from the man whose family set up the business, and who enjoys racing cars at the weekend. So he must mean it.

Now, you might think, how can that apply to a modestly sized and priced (from £8,595) little car that's going to spend its life on the school run or taking mum to the supermarket.

The answer, and you won't be shocked, is that the new Aygo is less fun than, say, a Ferrari, but that doesn't stop it being a better car than the model it replaces. And that sold more than 770,000 examples across Europe in its nine-year life.

If Aygo mark one was a play safe car, produced in the Czech Republic in collaboration with Citroen and Peugeot (producing near identical cars), then the new baby is a bold step in the direction of fun, especially in the looks department.

Lower

It's a tiny bit lower and longer than before, but no wider and with even a mildly aggressive look to the front, now dominated by what looks like a big cross, which be ordered in a variety of colours. The same cars from the Citroen/Peugeot stable plays it much safer in the styling department.

Personalisation is the name of the game in small cars with bigger aspirations (the BMW MINI is the obvious, and profitable example), and you now have several ways of making your new Aygo even more 'you'.

Fancy red or chrome touches to the front bumper, side sills and below the rear bumper? You'll be wanting the £245 OUTburst pack. Inside, for £165, you can match the air vents and gearlever surround with the car's exterior colour. Other add-ons are available.

Built on the mildly modified underpinnings of the old car, you won't expect much in the way of extra space inside. The old millimeter has been gained here and there, to the benefit of rear seat passengers (a six-footer can sit behind himself in modest comfort) and the boot is usefully larger than before.

Under the bonnet of every new Aygo beats a revised version of the old car's three-cylinder petrol engine, tickled a bit for more power and improved emissions and economy; now none of the newcomers involves paying the Chancellor a penny in road tax.

There's a choice of five-speed manual transmission or an automated version that does away with the clutch pedal and adds £700 to the bill.

Despite higher strength, lighter steel in some body parts the new Aygo bucks the diet plan of many new cars and weighs 30kg more than before, thanks to added features and improved safety structures.

Among the new car's attractions is a multimedia system that, as standard or at extra cost, lets you stream Bluetooth music from your mobile phone, see the road behind as you reverse or display your phone's satnav function on the Aygo's seven-inch touch screen.

Out on the flat, beautifully surfaced roads of the Netherlands, where the Aygo was launched to the press, the car impressed with its lively nature, abetted by an engine that thrums sportily away when provoked. It rode well too, with more emphasis on comfort than sporty prowess, thank goodness.

Pressing on, the trip computer showed a 57mpg average, which makes the decision not to offer a diesel model look absolutely the right one.

At launch there are three regular versions of the Aygo, with ascending amounts of standard kit and a couple of range-topping special editions, maxing out at £12,395 and adding things like fancier wheels, DAB radio and styling flourishes. A canvas roll back roof arrives next spring.

Peugeot 308 worthy winner

By Sharon Walters

It's good to know that just once in a while, the European Car of the Year panel gets things right. We've had some stinking decisions that have seemed to smack of brown paper bags in service station car parks at night. The clear winner in 2014 was a car that fully deserved the plaudits. Again it was a Peugeot family hatch, but the numerical closeness is all the underwhelming 307 and the excellent 308 have in common.

We've been getting used to the hatch for a little while now and Peugeot has subsequently fleshed out the 308 line with the car that we run the rule over here, the SW estate. Forget what you thought you knew about small estates. This one comes with a rare injection of desirability.

The petrol engine line up is based around a PureTech 1.2-litre e-THP three-cylinder engine offering either 110 or 130bhp. Go diesel and you're looking at a 1.6-litre turbodiesel. There's a base version with 92bhp or an e-HDi model with 115bhp and Stop-Start. Next up are the new generation BlueHdi diesels, either a 1.6 with 120bhp or a 2.0-litre unit with 150bhp, the latter offering the option of auto transmission.

There's usually a lot of nonsense spoken by car stylists but the buzzwords around the 308 SW really do ring true. Stretched, slender, fluid and dynamic, it's anything but your usual hatchback with an afterthought of a glasshouse clumsily attached.

Storage

Despite that arcing roofline, there's plenty of space in the back. The boot below the parcel shelf is a respectable 660-litres, which includes 70-litres of storage under the floor. You also get so-called Magic Flat rear seats which allow instant folding of both parts of the rear seat using levers accessible on the sides of the boot. Thanks to the automatic lowering of the rear seat cushions, the result is a flat floor and 1,660-litres of luggage space. Not enough for the extra third row seating that previous models used to have though. The boot aperture has a width of up to 106cm and a length to the rear seat backs of 107cm. It has vertical side walls with minimal wheel arch intrusion and the load sill is among the lowest of any estate car.

Prices start from around £17,000 and all models include Bluetooth, air conditioning and a DAB radio. You'll need to avoid the entry-level Access model though if you want the 9.7-inch multi-function infotainment touchscreen that makes the 308's interior such an engaging place to be. That's included at Active level, along with alloy wheels and auto headlamps.

The range-topping Allure model gets leather and Alcantara seats, or you can pay a bit more and go for full leather. This features subtle stitching, some impressive fluting and a particularly comfortable shape. The optional electric adjustment includes a variable massage function. The full-length glass roof transforms the feel of the rear seats and is sure to prove a favourite option.

Electric parking brakes haven't found universal favour but the one fitted to the 308 is one of the better examples. It disengages automatically as you pull away and makes the centre console look clean and tidy.

The aluminium roof bars are a standard fit item and Peugeot will also sell you accessory and carrying systems for roof boxes and cycle carriers.

No diesel engine in the 308 SW range emits more than 111g/km. Likely to prove popular with buyers is the new BlueHdi 1.6-litre 120bhp diesel which, when linked to a six-speed manual gearbox, records a combined cycle fuel consumption figure of some 88.3mpg and emissions of 85g/km; a record in the segment.

The Peugeot 308 SW is that rarest of things; a compact estate with genuine style. All too often cars in this class are horribly compromised, offer little in the way of genuine practicality over their hatchback siblings and look gawky and ill-proportioned.

The 308 SW is sleek and stylish with a reassuring aura of quality both inside and out.

- Acceptance The Company will only accept advertising on these standard terms and no other contract terms or conditions will apply other than those which are implied by statute and cannot lawfully be excluded. In particular the Company will not accept advertising on the basis of advertiser's terms and conditions.
- Content of Advertisements All advertisements must be legal, decent, honest and truthful. Advertisements must comply with the British Code of Advertising Practice and all other orders under the general supervision of the Advertising Standards Authority. Advertisements must comply with the requirements of all current legislation including but not limited to the following:- All advertisements must clearly differentiate between trade and private advertising as required by the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977. The Company reserves the right to refuse to carry any advertisement or to require amendment of any advertisement in its absolute discretion.
- Appearance of Advertisements Whilst the Company makes every effort to comply with requests, publication on a particular date or in a particular position cannot be guaranteed. The Company reserves the right to alter, suspend, cancel or reject an advertisement at its discretion even after the same has been accepted for publication without being liable to compensate you. You will not be charged for any advertisement which does not appear. If only a part of a series of advertisements appears you will only be charged for the advertisements in the series which actually appear. The Company does not guarantee the publication or extent of supporting editorial and your obligation to pay for advertising will not under any circumstances be dependent upon the appearance or content of editorial. No liability will be accepted for non-appearance of editorial. The Company does not guarantee that advertising will not appear for similar or the same subject matter to your advertisement and no liability shall be accepted as a result of such advertising appearing. It is the advertiser's responsibility to provide any amended copy, whether by electronic or other format, and the Company does not guarantee that it will be able to or will agree to modify, amend or alter any file or copy supplied to it.
- Liability The Company's liability for any loss or damage caused by any error or omission in the advertisement or any other breach of contract shall not in any circumstances exceed a full refund of any price paid by the advertiser to the Company for the publication of the advertisement or the cost of a further or corrective advertisement of the same type as that which originally appeared. Where a series of advertisements is booked the Company's liability shall not in any circumstances exceed the value of the first advertisement in the series. In the event of any error, misprint or omission in the publication of the advertisement the Company will either re-publish the advertisement or the relevant parts of the advertisement or make a reasonable refund or of adjustment to the cost of the advertisement. If the error does not materially detract from the advertisement then no re-publication, refund or adjustment will be made. It is the advertiser's responsibility to check the content of advertisements and the Company will not accept any liability for loss or damage, or obligation to re-publish or make a refund or adjustment, arising from re-publication of an advertisement containing an error, misprint or omission which has not been identified by the advertiser after first publication.
- Box Numbers The Company accepts no liability for loss or damage caused by delay in forwarding or omission to forward to the advertiser replies to Box Numbers. Box Numbers must not be used for sending goods, distributing circulars or communications from agents. - Inspection The Company shall be entitled at any time to inspect any goods or services advertised and may decline to carry further advertising if such inspection is not permitted or if in the Company's opinion the provision of further advertising facilities is not appropriate in view of the nature or quality of the goods or services.
- Indemnity The advertiser, including any advertising agency involved in placing any advertisement, shall indemnify the Company in respect of all charges, costs, claims or damage arising out of the publication of the advertisement, whether the same result from actual or threatened legal action or from some other cause.
- Cancellation On a request for cancellation or amendment of a classified advertisement being accepted, you will be given a cancellation or amendment number which must be quoted in all subsequent correspondence. ## B-team's win is just small beer for hosts

CANNOCK RUFC hosted their leg of the Staffordshire Sevens tournament that saw 12 teams from Staffordshire and Cheshire competing at the Morgan Ground last Saturday.

The teams competed in three leagues for a chance to play for three trophies, the Sevens Cup, Plate and Beer finals.

In the Beer trophy Cannock B beat the Barbarians to get the day off to a hopeful start.

However, the A team could not match that as they were defeated by Burntwood RUFC in the final of the Plate trophy. Matters did not go Cannock's way when Carl Palmer failed to notice the pitch had been reduced by two metres and touched down in the dead ball zone.

It all came down to the main event where Eccleshall played last year's winners Crewe & Nantwich. In a close fought match Crewe defeated Eccleshall to retain the trophy and finish another successful tournament.

David Taylor, Cannock RUFC chairman said: "Although the results didn't go our way it was another successful day and testament to the rugby fraternity that we had teams from all over the county and beyond competing."

Khalsa are a four-ce for derby

Darlaston Town (1874) 0 Sporting Khalsa 4

SPORTING Khalsa's first pre-season game under new manager Ian Rowe resulted in a 4-0 victory against a determined newly formed Darlaston.

Khalsa made a slow start to the game in a scrappy first half with the better chances falling to Khalsa's Bradley Lawley and Marvin Nisbett.

Khalsa started to control the game in the second half and took the lead through Kinch Mensah in the 56th minute. Mensah got his second in the 68th minute with a great solo goal. Chris Henry further increased Khalsa's lead then added a second and wrapped the game up.

New man Van is the driving force

Shamrock Rovers 1 Wolves 4
WOLVES continued preparations for life in the Championship with a routine 4-1 win over the fringe players and trialists of Shamrock Rovers.

The goals came from Leon Clarke - his second in as many friendlies - Liam McAlinden and Nougha Dicko. Bakary Sako made it two successive penalties for the fourth goal.

And with head coach Kenny Jackett again opting to play first choice and second choice XIs in each half, it was intriguing to see new signing Rajiv Van La Parra catch the eye for the 'reserves'.

Football

While the youthful 'shadow' visitors' defence is in its infancy, the flying Dutchman impressed as he used his pace to continually drive at the home back line in the first 45 minutes. Wolves did, however, have to come from behind to secure an ultimately comfortable second successive friendly win.

The home side settled quickest, impressive striker Ciaran Kilduff seeing a shot blocked by Kortney Hause.

From the resulting flag kick, Rovers took a ninth-minute lead when Aaron McCarey dropped former Leeds and Cardiff midfielder Stephen McPhail's set-piece and Kirk Millar tapped home.

Wolves, with debutant Van La Parra a driving force, gradually got themselves back into the game. First the Dutchman saw a fierce drive fizz just wide. Then Clarke was denied by keeper Craig Hyland.

Clarke levelled in the 24th minute following a lovely move. First half captain Matt Doherty started it with a ball that split the defence for Liam McAlinden. He exchanged passes with Clarke to put him through, and the latter buried a low effort to Hyland's left.

Four minutes later, Wolves went ahead, albeit in fortunate circumstances. There seemed no danger when Hyland collected a backpass, but he mis-controlled it and McAlinden was onto it in a flash to tap into the empty net from 15 yards.

The third came on 70 minutes, Danny Bath setting up Michael Jacobs who spotted the run of Dave Edwards and his cross was stabbed in off the post by Dicko.

Wolves made it 4-1 when Sako drove home from the spot.

Pitmen good value for victory at Hayes

Hednesford Town 4 Heath Hayes 0 HEDNESFORD Town comfortably put their near neighbours Heath Hayes to the sword on a humid day at the Coppice Colliery Ground.

There was a minute silence for George Roberts, a local supporter who followed both teams for many years, before the game.

Jamey Osborne made his first start of the pre-season campaign and, ably assisted by another encouraging performance from James Hurst and Kris Taylor, the home side were never given any opportunity to settle into an attacking rhythm.

On another day The Pitmen could have had considerably more than the four goals scored but credit must go to the Midland League Premier Division side for showing admirable battling qualities throughout.

Flagged

Danny Glover, a constant threat in the Hednesford attack, had the ball in the net on the half hour mark after a swift passing move involving Osborne but the linesman rightly flagged for offside. Then Marvin Robinson was hauled down in the area and picked himself up to despatch the penalty on the stroke of half time.

Heath Hayes started the second half brightly and fashioned their best chance of the game when Andrew Davis hit a powerful shot straight at Ryan Price.

Lewis Taylor-Boyce, making his Hednesford debut after signing from Walsall Wood, got into the game and was a lively presence on the right wing in the second half, setting up Osborne at the back post to nod down to Robinson for his second but, as Heath Hayes began to tire, Taylor's aptitude at set pieces came to the fore.

Football

First, his 70th minute free kick curled straight past Dan Ware although Francino Francis looked to have got a slight touch and a minute later, Ben Bailey was given the freedom of the area to powerfully head home a left-footed corner.

The Pitmen entertain Conference outfit Kidderminster in their first home friendly on Saturday.

Hednesford Town: Price, Griffiths, Campion (c), Bailey (71), McCone, Taylor, Osborne, Hurst, Robinson (45, 58), Glover, Taylor-Boyce,

Subs: Melbourne, Thompson, Thorley, Francis (70), Johnson, Angho-Ntamark,

Heath Hayes: Ware, Degville, Phillips, Davis, Wright, Arrowsmith, Brain, Langley, T Green, A Green, Geldart,

Scholars come from behind to beat neighbours

Chasetown's Lee Parsons keeps a watchful eye on his Lichfield City opponent

Lichfield City 1 Chasetown 3
CHASETOWN boss Craig Harris experimented in his side's first pre-season friendly as they ran out 3-1 winners, coming from a goal behind at neighbours Lichfield City.

The starting line-up contained five that would be considered regulars from the end of last season with more of last season's team introduced as the game progressed.

In humid conditions, the first half saw very little in front of goal, an effort from Luke Bottomer straight at the goalkeeper the best chance for the visitors.

Chasetown did have the ball in the net but Tesfa Robinson was deemed offside.

Almost immediately at the start of the second half, after several substitutions by both sides, City took the lead. After a defensive mix up Kyle Minto rolled the ball beyond Jon Bateman which trickled over the line. Nick Wellecome forced a corner from which Robinson again found the net, with a header, and this time the goal stood.

Nathan Waite was another half-time introduction and he gave Chasetown the lead with a sweet finish from the corner of the penalty box.

Mitch MacDonald set up Wellecome for a very good goal to make it 3-1.

Heighway spell puts seconds in control

Cannock 1sts 209-7 Lichfield 1sts 208-9 - Cannock won by three wickets

A THREE-wicket win saw Cannock extend their lead at the top of the Staffs Premier division.

Lichfield batted first and after a good start Matt Robinson pegged them back with 4-43.

In reply Australian Antony Sams lead the way with 109 before Zac Shingler's 31no saw the visitors home with three overs to spare.

Cannock 2nds 107-4 Lichfield 2nds 104 - Cannock won by six wickets

An opening spell of 5-32 by Phil Heighway put Cannock in control as Lichfield were dismissed for just 104.

Despite the loss of early wickets, Dan Wood (39no), Matt Davenport (38) and Tom Bull (19no) took Cannock to victory with almost 20 overs left.

Cannock 3rds 104-7 Tamworth 3rds 255-7 - Losing Draw Cannock

Cannock were content to claim a losing home draw after the visitors had posted 255-7 from 50 overs.

A 150 stand between Tom McNulty (93) and Steve Dick (73) took the game away from Cannock. Alex Rowe claimed 3-36.

Okore: I'm ready to join Vlaar

JORES OKORE says he is ready to form a crucial partnership with Ron Vlaar to solve Villa's defensive woes.

The centre-back has recovered from a cruciate kneel ligament injury and is waiting for Dutchman Vlaar's World Cup return.

Skipper Vlaar shone for the Netherlands as they finished third in Brazil - despite missing a penalty in their semi-final shoot-out defeat to Argentina.

Villa conceded 66 goals last season and Okore is eager to link-up with Vlaar to solidify the defence.

He said: "He played really well for us at Villa and it continued into the World Cup. I hope he can help us perform like he did throughout the summer."

Wolves may fail in bid for Maguire

WOLVES are ready to admit defeat in their long pursuit of Harry Maguire as Kenny Jackett suggested the Sheffield United defender will move "imminently".

Hull City are now understood to have upped their bid to £1.75m as a down payment plus add-ons, an improvement on the £1.5m rising to £2m with further payments.

Wolves have had offers of £1m and £1.5m rejected while Nottingham Forest have also been linked with the 21-year-old.

Maguire has released a statement which indicated he preferred Hull over Wolves after declaring Premier League and European football at this stage of his career was his "dream".

"On the face of it, European football is a dream for all of us," said head coach Jackett. "One thing it does seem is that he's very much sought after and there's a lot of speculation surrounding him and it does seem as if he's going to move imminently."

United are seeking as much as £4m for Maguire, but realistically will probably settle for between £2m-£2.5m.

Jackett said: "We'll see - we're always pursuing good players. I don't like talking about players contracted to other clubs."

Ki signing on cards for Villa

VILLA are closing in on Ki Sung-Yeung as Fabian Delph was linked with West Ham.

Swansea midfielder Ki reportedly held talks with Paul Lambert with the manager hoping to complete a deal this week.

Ki impressed on loan at Sunderland last season, helping them avoid the Premier League drop.

He made 41 appearances for the Swans after signing from Celtic in 2012 and would become Villa's first cash signing of the summer if a deal can be agreed.

The move comes as West Ham were linked with a £5m move for Player of the Season Delph, who has just one year left on his contract.

Meanwhile, Villa new boy Kieran Richardson has revealed his debt to Roy Keane in helping him turn his career around while at Sunderland together.

Son pays tribute to former Scholars boss

Mervyn Rowe

NON-LEAGUE football is mourning the loss one of its most enduring and respected characters.

Mervyn Rowe, a former goalkeeper and later manager who served Chasetown FC and Shifnal Town over several spells, has died, aged 84.

Mr Rowe, who had successfully fought cancer and pneumonia in recent years, died peacefully at the Royal Shrewsbury Hospital on Monday surrounded by his family.

The son of a machine gunner, Mr Rowe served in the Grenadier Guards for many years. Born near Wisbech, Cambridgeshire, the family moved to Tettenhall in his early years, and he attended St Michaels junior school before he joined the

Football

Guards aged 16, becoming a gold sergeant. He married first wife Sheila, now 81, and they settled in Tettenhall and had four children.

Following his departure from the Guards, Mr Rowe worked for Wolverhampton department store Beatties for 40 years and progressed to departmental store manager before retiring.

Mr Rowe, who lived in Shifnal for the last 19 years with second wife Pauline, served as an amateur goalkeeper for Wolves - signed by Stan Cullis - Queens Park Rangers, Sheffield Wednesday and Lincoln City. Later he scouted locally for Chelsea and also managed Codsall 440 and Armitage.

Mr Rowe enjoyed his most successful spell as Chasetown boss, steering the Scholars to two Walsall Senior Cups in the 1990s and runners-up spot in the West Midlands League.

Eldest son Michael, aged 60, said: "I always looked up to him. He was never late and always immaculately dressed. No one messed him about but he was loyal to people."

He leaves Pauline, aged 79, sons Michael, Anthony, 57, and Ian, 54, daughter Diane, 55, and 11 grandchildren.

Smith is calling for goals

DEAN SMITH says goal-scoring must be a team responsibility for Walsall as his hunt for attacking talent continued.

After letting top scorer Craig Westcarr depart, Smith has increased his attacking options with the signings of Tom Bradshaw and Jordan Cook but is keen to add more.

"We want everyone to chip in goals," said Smith. "If we get a 20 goal striker then great but I don't want to put pressure on just one player."

"If other people are chipping in all the time it helps."

Smith feels the week in Devon will be an ideal chance for new players to feel part of the squad.

That includes former Shrewsbury Town hitman Bradshaw, who has impressed the manager with his attitude.

"He (Tom) is one who caught my eye an awful lot," said Smith. "He has got a great hunger and enthusiasm for the game, that is something which struck me straight away."

"He is someone who always plays with a smile on his face and wants to keep getting better."

Dean remains patient on deals

SADDLERS boss Dean Smith is to run the rule over more trialists before making further signings.

Smith is prepared to be patient before making any final decisions with two hopefuls poised to link up with the squad next week.

One who could be in line for a deal is Spanish trialist Javier Lopez Iglesias.

WOOD DENIED BY LAST-GASP GOAL

Walsall Wood 1 Hednesford Town 2

A goal from Jamey Osborne 30 seconds from the end robbed Wood of a draw that their overall performance deserved.

Ahead from the first minute Wood had denied the visitors until the 37th minute when a wicked deflection wrong-footed impressive debutant keeper Mario Kisiel.

He was powerless at the end when the ball went in off his right hand post.

After the Pitmen's attack from the kick off broke down, Wood piled forward to win a right wing corner that Harry Harris delivered to the far post. The ball bounced off a defender and into the net to give Wood a dream start.

On seven minutes Kris Taylor crossed from wide left, Marvin Robinson powering in a downward header that Kisiel saved with his feet.

Racing

The keeper foiled Robinson five minutes later racing from his box to kick clear from a ball over the top of the defence.

At this stage it was Robinson versus Kisiel and the keeper won again on 15 minutes, a powerful header forward was collected at pace by the striker, only for the keeper to make a brave block to deny him.

A move down the visitors right saw Jamey Osborne race onto a ball right of the box only to roll a shot wide of the advancing keeper and the far post. Wood were trying to make inroads into the Pitmen's half but the moves kept breaking down due to a resolute defence.

On 29 minutes Tom Thorley collected a ball left of centre, ran at the Wood defence and hit a rising drive that Kisiel touched over.

Five minutes later the keeper was again alert to somehow shovel away a central 25-yard free kick.

Taylor then hit a first-time effort that took a deflection off a defender and completely wrong-footed the keeper to give the visitors a fortuitous equaliser.

Town put the Wood under pressure at the start of the second half, but it wasn't until the 51st minute that they got in a shot, even then Thorley's low drive was blocked.

It was end to end stuff with no end product until on 73 minutes James Hurst collected a ball in the centre of the box only to drag his shot wide under pressure from Boothe.

Wood came within 30 seconds of a creditable draw in the July sunshine, but the pressure finally paid off for the visitors, with Osborne keeping his composure to score a last gasp winner.

Wellecomme goal settles Sporting clash

Chasetown's Lee Butler on the ball as he seeks to get past the Sporting Khalsa defenders

Sporting Khalsa 0 Chasetown 1

AN entertaining first half saw chances at each end, the pick of which came in the 27th minute when John Bateman produced a fantastic one-on-one save to deny Khalsa's Brad Lawley.

At the other end, Chasetown had gone close with a Lee Butler free kick while he also had a shot blocked after a great run by Ramone Stephens. Chasetown took in the lead in the 36th minute. Nathan Waite picked out a pass to Nick Wellecomme, and last year's leading scorer scored his second goal of pre-season with a close range tap-in.

Bateman, who made one first team appearance for Chasetown last season, preserved the Scholars lead a minute later with a great stop to deny Tom Overfield.

Wellecomme almost doubled his tally following a through ball from substitute Luke Bottomer but one-on-one with James Pemberton, the Khalsa keeper came out on top.

Jazz Luckie went close to adding to Chasetown's advantage, in a half that the visitors dominated.
